Rondout Lodge Celebrated 75th Anniversary Monday

Instituted in 1854, Event Is Appropriately Observed with Banquet and Services — Grand Master and Deputy Grand Master of Grand Lodge of State, Guests of Honor — History Of Rondout Lodge.

Instituted as a lodge of Masons in 1854, Rondout Lodge, No. 343, Free and Accepted Masons, appropriately observed its seventy-fifth anniversary on Monday evening when the anniversary dinner was served in the chapel of the Rondout Presbyterian Church and was followed by the anniversary services in the auditorium of the church with Grand Master John A. Dutton and Deputy Grand Master Charles H. Johnson, of the grand lodge of Masons of the state of New York as guests of honor.

The anniversary dinner was served shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening in the spacious chapel of the church by members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, and over 100 members of the lodge enjoyed the fine banquet that had been prepared. At the close of the banquet the Masons adjourned to the auditorium of the church where the anniversary exercises were held. Following the services in the church a social hour was enjoyed in the chapel where light refreshments were served.

The anniversary services were presided over by Robert G. Groves, master of Rondout Lodge, and seated on the rostrum with him were the grand master and the deputy grand master, the latter being an honorary member of Rondout Lodge, Past District Deputy Samuel Stern, of Rondout Lodge, and Philip Elting and John E. Kraft, past masters of Kingston Lodge, No. 10.

During the evening a fine musical program was rendered by the Masonic orchestra under the leadership of Benjamin W. Johnston.

Dr. Stern, past district deputy of the Greene-Ulster Masonic district, has been an active member of Rondout Lodge for the past thirty-one years and during all those years he has never missed being present at the conferring of the Master Mason degree, in which degree he has always played an active part. As a slight token of the high esteem in which he was held by the lodge he was presented during the evening with a jewel, emblem of the Masonic honors he had held. The presentation was made on behalf of Rondout Lodge by Deputy Grand Master Johnson.

At the present time Rondout Lodge has but two living members who have been active for half a century. They are James Tongue and John Perry. Mr. Tongue was present at the anniversary services and at the request of Master Groves he was escorted to the front by Past District Deputy Charles H. Gregory and extended congratulations on his long and honorable Masonic career by Grand Master Dutton. He was raised in Rondout Lodge in 1867, sixty-two years ago.

Brief addresses were delivered by Past Master John E. Kraft and Past Master Philip Elting of Kingston Lodge, and they were followed by addresses by Deputy Grand Master Johnson and Grand Master Dutton, who spoke on the principles and ideals of Masonry and brought to Rondout Lodge the congratulations of the grand lodge of the state of New York.

History of Rondout Lodge.

Robert G. Groves, master of Rondout Lodge, gave the historical sketch of the history of the lodge from its institution to the present time. The history of the lodge follows:

In Brother A. T. Clearwater's history of Ulster county there is an article which was contributed by Right Worshipful Brother John E. Kraft, which gives us a history of the beginnings of Masonry in the County of Ulster. The County of Ulster was erected 250 years ago and is one of the twelve original counties in the State of New York. From it portions of Delaware, Greene and Sullivan counties have been taken. We are told in this literary contribution of Right Worshipful Brother Kraft that when Kingston was burned by the British Army in 1777 the records of the Masonic Fraternity in Ulster County were destroyed. Consequently, there is no written history of the craft in Ulster before that date. A Masonic Lodge existed in Kingston long before the War of the Revolution under a dispensation of the Country Grand Lodge, and was visited by many distinguished brethren from other jurisdictions. When Washington visited Kingston in 1782 the members of the Lodge, then known as Livingston Lodge, No. 23, called upon him in a body at the house of General Wynkoop on Green street in this city, and requested him to open a communication of the Lodge in due and ancient form, he being the past master of his own Lodge at Alexandria, Virginia. The great general complied with their request, and opened the lodge, after which he went to the First Dutch Church, the consistory of

Prof. Adams Defines News

Prof. Bristow Adams, conducting a school for Home Bureau correspondents, entertained and edified a class of about 40 in the Supervisors' room in the court house this morning and continued to do so this afternoon. Professor Adams has had newspaper experience and has trained the Cornell University savants to a point at which some of them, at least, can write English sufficiently clear that it is understood by ordinary folks.

In his opening address Professor Adams sharply defined the difference between news and propaganda. His purpose, he said, was to enable those who have it to write news in a form acceptable to editors. Newspapers are hooded with propaganda and publicity furnished by those whose purpose is to secure benefit for themselves or for some "cause."

The way to create news is to do things. Facts, plus names, minus opinion, are news. Home Bureau news consists, first, of things done. Next in importance is things to be done.

But if only the things to be done are sent to the newspapers the impression is soon created that the society amounts to little or that the correspondent is merely working the editor for free advertising.

At the close of Professor Adams's address the class wrote news stories which were criticised at the afternoon meeting by the "faculty."

The morning session was followed by a luncheon at Von Berg's, after which there were informal talks by local editors.

The program was thoroughly enjoyed b[illegible] probably be of great assistance to them in their future work, covering as it did the basis of the art of news writing.

Begin Trial of Albert B. Fall

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP).—A possibility that the deposition given by Albert B. Fall in the Sinclair conspiracy case but never put into court records might be made public during the current Fall trial for bribery was seen today when W. B. Bull, United States Commissioner of El Paso, Texas, appeared at the trial as a government witness.

Bull took the 10,000 word document at El Paso a year and a half ago when attorneys for Harry F. Sinclair insisted Fall's testimony was essential to Sinclair's defense.

Fall's health at that time would not permit him to come to Washington to testify.

At today's session Fall appeared stronger than yesterday and for a time stood at the door smiling before taking his seat.

Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel, commenced his opening statement as soon as the jury entered the box. He went into details of the Naval Oil Reserve Number 1 at Elk Hills, California, in connection with which the government charges Fall, then Secretary of the Interior, accepted a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil operator, for awarding him the lease.

Among the witnesses who arrived today was Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy under Wilson and a government witness in the case.

HOT DOGS LEAD TO ARREST FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT.

Chicago, Oct. 8 (AP).—Bob Lewis, traveling secretary of the Chicago Cubs, spent half an hour in jail early this morning, all on account of hot dogs.

Lewis and Ray Kneip, hot dog concessionaire at Wrigley Field, were arrested by a policeman who asserted they were threatening independent hot dog "barkers" vending the invigorating frankfurters to the thousands of persons lined up outside the ball park waiting for bleacher seats.

Lewis and Kneip were booked for disorderly conduct and released on their own $25 bonds.

Ernest Cashman, said to be a club employe, was arrested for striking one of the independent vendors. He also was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $25 bail.

Earth Tremors In Maine.

Lewiston, Maine, Oct. 8 (AP).—Two distinct earth tremors were felt and heard here today. The first was at 7:29 a. m., and lasted two seconds with the second following 10 minutes later. Both were accompanied by a low rumble. No damage was reported.

Embargo on New York Shipments Due to Strike

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—The metropolis was cut off from its supply of fresh vegetables and fruits today by a rail embargo while market truckmen and their employers strove to settle the strike which has clogged terminals with $6,000,000 worth of perishable produce.

Threatened by a blockade in their freight yards, where 3,000 cars of produce have accumulated since the strike was called Saturday night, the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Erie railroads put the embargo into effect at midnight.

Agents throughout the country were instructed not to accept shipments of perishable produce consigned to New York until further notice. Shipments en route east of Chicago were ordered diverted to Boston or Philadelphia or back to Chicago. Goods in transit west of Chicago were sidetracked to be returned to the shippers.

Leaders of the 2,000 truck drivers on strike for an eight-hour day and extra pay for overtime and representatives of the Market Truckmen's Association professed to see prospects of a settlement today.

Retail prices for fruits and vegetables continued normal because commission houses, forewarned of the strike, had put in stocks sufficient for the demand. Trade associations issued warnings to the public that increased retail prices were unjustified profiteering.

Efforts of a few owners to drive their own trucks were thwarted when handlers refused to load or unload them.

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—State Department of Agriculture and Markets—The wholesale fresh fruit and vegetable market remained dark again this morning and not a truck or motor vehicle turned a wheel as a result of the continued strike of teamsters and chauffeurs.

The supply of perishables on hand at secondary markets throughout Greater New York was diminishing fast. Jobbers in many instances were taking advantage of the situation and asking higher prices.

Utica Republican Leader Dead.

Utica, Oct. 8 (AP).—Alderman Alfred Bertolini, 50, Republican leader of this city, died today after an attack of acute indigestion. From an obscure clothing cutter, Alderman Bertolini Rose, within comparatively few years, to temporary president of Utica's Common Council. He was born in Italy and came to this country when 13 years old. He is survived by his widow and four children.

Democrats and Independents Are Still in Control

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP).—The hopes of leaders of the Democratic and Independent Republican groups to dictate the entire tariff bill had fresh support today as debate approached on the crucial rate schedules.

Continuance of the coalition's power—three times victorious in contests with the administration—was seen by its leaders in the defeat of the Republican amendment to permit customs appraisers in certain instances to resort to an estimated value in levying ad valorem rates.

Regular Republican leaders insisted, however, that the vote on this issue, 44-37, did not sustain the claims that the coalition would hold intact through consideration of the numerous changes proposed in the imposts, which is expected to start tomorrow or Thursday.

Confronting the last of the amendments proposed to the administrative clauses of the bill, the Senate today turned to the proposal to give labor as well as manufacturers and importers representation in customs litigation.

A move to prevent nullification on the coalition's victory over the administration in taking the flexible tariff powers away from the President, meanwhile, has been initiated by Senator McKellar, Tennessee Democrat.

His proposal is that the Senate itself, instead of the Vice President, designate the chamber's committee, when the time comes, to confer on differences in the measure with representatives of the House, which voted to continue the flexible tariff policy favored by the President.

Confident that the group will hold power at that time, the Tennessean believes it could put an independent Republican on the Senate Conference Committee in place of a regular Republican who under long precedent would be appointed.

Precedents would require the Vice President to nominate Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee, the two ranking Republicans and the two ranking Democrats as conferees. Recalling that the house supported the President against export debentures, McKellar is determined that the Senate not be made "subservient to the administration machine in the House."

TWO CARS CRASHED AT RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE.

Monday night a Chevrolet car of John S. Kerr of Jersey City and a Nash car of D. P. Finley of Short Beach, Conn., collided at the entrance to the Rondout Creek Bridge. Finley was cut about the nose and both cars were somewhat damaged.

Where "They Asked For Dave" Quarter of a Century Ago

The old fashioned steps, gas lights and small display windows have given way to modern store fronts and huge flood lights for show windows in the stores of Kingston's merchants. This march of progress has taken place during the past quarter of a century as is shown from the above picture which shows the Kantrowitz store on North Front street about theaty-five years ago. All over Kingston this great improvement has taken place and today Kingston's stores are modern and up-to-date and Kingston is "a good place to shop."

Many people can remember the days of a quarter of a century ago when the "merchant tailor" sign was a popular one and the majority of suits were "tailor made". Today [illegible] that and "ready to wear" clothing is now the predominating custom.

During this change of customs Kingston stores have kept step with the march of progress and those who attend the Fall Display of the Uptown Merchants on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week will find that Kingston stores are modern and the merchandise handled is up to the minute in quality and price. By attending the opening Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when the store windows will be unveiled to the public you will find all that is new in fall merchandise no matter what kind of merchandise you may be interested in.

In connection with the Fall Display and Dress Up movement there will be a big street automobile show where all that is new in automobiles will be on display.

The windows will be unveiled at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

No Cases Ready, Court Adjourns Until Thursday

Judge Russell Declares He Will Keep the Court Busy—Eluard E. Murray of Pine Bush Appointed Foreman of the Grand Jury.

With Judge Pierce E. Russell presiding, the October term of the supreme court convened Monday afternoon.

Edward E. Murray of Pine Bush was appointed foreman of the grand jury with Abram P. Wilklow of Highland as assistant foreman. The grand jury will be in session at least a week in clearing up matters which were not taken care of by the recent grand jury in attendance at the September term of the county court.

Eighteen of the panel of thirty-six trial jurors were excused from service when they presented legal excuses.

There was no case ready for trial Monday afternoon and after making up a day calendar Judge Russell adjourned court until Thursday morning.

In making up a day calendar Judge Russell announced that it was going to be a hard and fast rule that cases which were placed on the day calendar must be ready. Cases which were placed on the ready calendar must be ready and in the event that a case was placed on the calendar and was not ready for trial when reached judgment or dismissal of the complaint would follow unless some legal reason was given by counsel. Judge Russell said he intended to keep the court busy and that could not be done if a day calendar was made up one day only to fall to pieces next day when called. Cases on the day calendar must be tried when reached or judgment taken.

A day calendar was made up consisting of Nos. 23, 16, 116, 156, 190, 192, 193, 215 and 191. Two cases were placed on the inquest calendar. They are Nos. 226 and 227.

No. 238, Henry J. Wieber and another against Arthur R. Wolven, action on contract, was announced as settled.

No. 101, George C. Hudson against Yonkers Fruit Company, an action for money had and received, was put over until Wednesday. It had been noticed for trial on the opening day under a stipulation made at the last term of supreme court but Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., who appeared for the defendant's lawyer, stated that there had been a failure to serve defendant with an order of the court growing out of an application for a bill of particulars. He asked that the matter go over until Wednesday.

In No. 23, Frank E. Gallagher against Joseph M. Herbert, an action on contract, was put over until Tuesday morning in order to give counsel for plaintiff a chance to locate a witness. The case came under the strike off rule of the last court, but went over to the present term on motion of plaintiff's counsel who was unable to secure a witness last term. Monday afternoon John F. O'Brien of Albany, who appears for plaintiff, stated that he was unable to locate Frank Ensign, an employe of the attorney general's office in New York, who was a necessary witness for plaintiff. As the case was put over at the May term with the understanding that it must be placed on the ready calendar at this term and be tried or dismissed the court permitted Mr. O'Brien to have until 10 o'clock Tuesday to locate Mr. Ensign. Amos Van Etten and F. W. Brooks appear for defendant.

ROME DAILY SEES THREAT AGAINST NON-ANGLO-SAXON

Rome, Oct. 8 (AP).—Tevere, Rome daily, in an editorial today purported to see the welding of an Anglo-Saxon hegemony in the Hoover-MacDonald conversations.

After inveighing against American imperialism "composed of the thousand elements sapping the very basis of our Mediterranean conception of life," the paper said Europe did not heed this, but Mr. MacDonald was aware of it, and so had made a final effort to avert a shock and conflict with his own government.

"Therefore," the paper said, "behold this new Anglo-Saxon system which wishes to become the center of the political universe.

"Non-Anglo-Saxon powers must now adapt themselves to becoming obedient satellites in this new universe.

"...From the cottage on the Rapidan River there is moving to the assault of our world the most brutal irresistible force that history records. It isn't a question of ships, tonnage, and calibres; it is a tentative displacement of the earth's axis."

More Bombings In New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 8 (AP).—With no more to work with in the way of a clue than in other previous similar cases since the car strike started, police and federal marshals today were investigating the bombing last night of two more street cars. The cars were bombed within five minutes of each other, in different neighborhoods, though in the same lower section of the city. Crews and passengers in each case escaped injury. The cars and tracks were damaged.

Hudson River Central Baptist Association Meeting

Seventy-first Annual Meeting Opens in Albany Avenue Baptist Church With About 200 Delegates From 36 Churches—First Address on "Making the Sunday Evening Service Successful."

With about 200 delegates from 36 churches, the Hudson River Central Baptist Association convened this morning at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. Robert B. Pattison of Ossining, who is the association moderator, will preside at most of the sessions of the conference, which will continue throughout the day and evening and on Wednesday.

The conference opened with a session attended by the pastors of the various churches of the association. The Rev. Leon J. Davis of Nanuet was the presiding officer. At 10:30 o'clock a short devotional session was held. The Rev. F. P. Hunter led the devotions. A brief business meeting followed.

The first address of the conference was given by the Rev. Ivanhoe McCollum of Newburgh on "Making the Sunday Evening Service Successful."

His address dealt with the making of the Sunday evening service, which he said was the least attended of all Sunday services, so interesting that people would want to attend them, and to keep the subjects so human that the congregation would return.

Folks, Facts and Fire.

He divided his address into three parts, folks, facts and fire. "I believe in every legitimate method of advertising what I'm going to say. I have used the newspapers, motion pictures, posters, bills and the mimeograph to reach the greatest number of people. I do not try to compete with Sunday evening forms of recreation, but I do try to keep one step ahead of them, and make the sort of an appeal to my congregation that will draw them to my Sunday evening service. Another thing, I never turn down an invitation to speak at a service club or meeting of any other form of civic organization. Contact with as many persons as possible is one of the most important things that we ministers have, and we should make use of every opportunity to use those contacts," said the Rev. Mr. McCollum.

"Concerning the facts, why not try and meet the needs of the congregation?" The speaker went on to say that many pastors went astray in their sermons. They spoke on evolution, modernism and fundamentalism which he thought were not the important things of religion. He explained that the congregation needed subjects of human interest, and that they needed them expressed in very day language that they could understand. "We must appeal to human nature, and furthermore, we must appeal to all kinds of individual needs, the needs that are every day problems for our listeners," he continued.

"I have used sermon subjects that have catchy titles and attractive meaning, titles that stir interest. One of my subjects was 'Wanted—More Fools,' taken from the passage 'we are fools for Christ's sake.' Again, the use of pantomime to illustrate the Scripture lesson was found to be very effective. Music of the proper type, well played is also important. Also, the pastoral prayer must be helpful and have some meaning instead of a jumble of words that no one can understand," he stated.

In connection with fire, the Rev. Mr. McCollum said that the ministers had a definite purpose. They are consecrated to help those who need aid. "My purpose is to give my congregation something to think about, and to increase their numbers," he concluded.

Nominating Committee.

The meeting was then thrown open to discussion and the various statements made by the speaker were taken up. The morning session closed with the appointment of the Revs. C. B. Smith of Kingston, J. W. Lionson of Cornwall and William J. Rutherford of Saugerties, as a nominating committee. The committee was to bring its report to the afternoon session.

The afternoon session included addresses by Dean Thomas Waring of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Miss Harriet Smith, field secretary, and the Rev. John C. Smith, executive secretary.

The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary met in the afternoon to hear Miss Ruth Shaw of Porto Rico give the anniversary address.

Featuring the evening session the Rev. J. Harvey Moore of Poughkeepsie will address the delegates on "The Marks of a Full Grown Christian." All of the meetings are open to the public.

Officers of the conference are the Rev. Robert B. Pattison of Ossining, moderator; E. V. Benjamin of Newburgh, vice-moderator; the Rev. William Barlow of Beacon, clerk; the Rev. Stanley B. Smith of Newburgh, corresponding secretary, and George F. Hoar of Ossining, treasurer.

Lindbergh Lands In Yucatan Jungle

Belize, British Honduras, Oct. 8 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh came down with rare skill in the midst of the Yucatan jungle on a small green pool.

The Colonel and his bride inflated a rubber boat, and chopping their way through reeds and underbrush, with machetes, made their way to shore, where they looked for ruins and relics of the lost Maya civilization.

While they were ashore Mrs. Lindbergh served her husband, the two scientists who were with them, and the plane's radio operator with a typical field lunch, consisting of raisins, bananas, and crackers. They remarked they had been so engrossed in their search for ruins they had forgotten to eat.

The landing, which was near the banks of Lake de Chichen Anaba, Quintana Roo, was without success. The party found neither ruins nor human habitation, nor signs of life other than the wild life usual in the Yucatan jungles. The jungle stop was made at noon, while the party was enroute from Merida, Yucatan, across the peninsula to Belize, over a course of about 400 miles.

Those in the plane in flight could not be sure today that they had spotted any more ruins hitherto unknown to science, although Dr. A. V. Kidder, head of the Archaeological Department of Carnegie Institute, said there were indications at places these might exist. These places were photographed and plotted on maps.

While everyone scanned the massed tropical growth below for traces of the vanished Maya race the colonel crossed and recrossed a deep unchartered river, unknown by name to anyone aboard. There was no life nor sign of human habitation along its banks.

Mellon to Remain Until March, 1933

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP).—Andrew W. Mellon will guide the fiscal affairs of the United States for the duration of the current administration.

This announcement by President Hoover is intended to lay the rumors that the 74-year-old financier, who has held the treasury portfolio longer than any of his predecessors, is planning to retire.

It means that, his health and his wishes permitting, he will continue in the cabinet until March 4, 1933, spanning the terms of three administrations — Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Reports have been current frequently since President Hoover took office that Mellon was about to retire. All have been denied, but their persistence finally led to the White House announcement. The announcement went beyond the reports early in the administration that the treasury secretary would continue in office another year.

The implication of those reports that he might then wish to relinquish the tremendous financial burdens of his office probably nourished the rumors of impending resignation.

WILL BUILD GAMBLING CASINO IN PANAMA CITY

Panama City, Oct. 8 (AP).—T. G. Duque, secretary of the treasury, has signed a contract with Ben Gray, Inc., of New York, for construction and operation of a tourist hotel and gambling casino in Panama City. The concession was given in accordance with a law enacted by the National Assembly at its last session allowing certain forms of gambling.

According to the terms of the agreement the concessionaire will invest at least $750,000 in his plan, paying the government from $5,000 to $12,000 annually plus a percentage of gross receipts for 25 years.

Ben Gray said he represented some New York financiers.

Chicago Plane Up Over 200 Hours.

Chicago, Oct. 8 (AP).—With eight full days to their credit at 6:52 a. m. today, the two mystery pilots of the Chicago—We Will endurance plane planned to spend their 200th hour aloft over Wrigley Field for a long distance bird's eye view of the first World Series' game.

MODERN TOOL ALLOY HARD AS DIAMONDS

Detroit, (AP)—Experiments made by German scientists during the world war in the production of a substitute for diamonds needed in the manufacture of precision instruments have been taken advantage of to provide certain tools in American automobile factories.

Developing the German experiments American scientists have produced a material so hard that it scratches glass like a diamond and named it carboloy. It is a tungsten carbide and has been called the hardest material ever manufactured commercially by man. Harder than the hardest of high speed steel, its ingredients are carbon, cobalt and tungsten.

Carboloy is used in automobile factory work to provide tips for steel cutting machinery in several precision operations. While approximating the hardness of a diamond, carboloy is slightly less brittle and therefore does not chip so easily.

Artificial diamonds have been produced by subjecting carbon to tremendous heat and pressure, but the cost has proved prohibitive. Manufacture of carboloy also is relatively expensive, but only a very small piece is required—just enough to produce a tip weighing six to 12 grams on a base of steel.

It is possible with the new substance to hold cutting operations to within the limits of two ten-thousandths of an inch.

Old Fort Preserved

Fort McHenry of "Star Spangled Banner" fame is still standing and is open to the public. Many of the fortifications remain and the drives and walks are lined with cannon balls of that siege. Two memorials to Francis Scott Key have been erected on the grounds, one overlooking the river and the other at the entrance. It is to be a national park.

Human Nature's Attributes

Human nature is not a machine to be built after a model and set to do exactly the work prescribed for it, but a tree, which requires to grow and develop itself on all sides, according to the tendencies of the inward forces which make a living thing.—Mill.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Claire Windsor of the screen is wearing a big diamond on the forefinger of her left hand and Anthony J. Tsaklakis, wealthy lawyer of Alexandria, Egypt, is visiting her. Engaged? Claire, arm in his, smiled and remarked that she and "Tony" recently attended a dance and had a nice chat with Bert Lytell, her former husband, and his fiancee, Grace Menecken.

Trenton, N. J.—Charles Milinski has retired from saloon-keeping and intends to live on a farm with his mother-in-law. He said so in court. "That," remarked United States Attorney Foreman, "would seem to be punishment enough." Judge Clark concurred.

Berlin—There were 7,592 divorces in Berlin last year.

London—The number of divorces here last year was 4,018, the highest on record. Evidently restriction on publication of testimony was a factor.

Reno—A Buffalo mother and daughter have taken the "cure" together here. Mrs. Ella W. Sill obtained a divorce from Seymour E. Sill. Her daughter divorced Richard Henry Means and forthwith married George F. Deny.

Leningrad—Arrests for drunkenness at times total as high as 900 a night.

Vienna—What are regarded as the oldest cigars in the world are on view in the tobacco museum. A box made in 1844 was found among old records of the tobacco monopoly.

Sofia, Bulgaria—The fez is more popular than ever notwithstanding Mustapha Kemal's suppression of it. There are 650,000 Turks in Bulgaria. Even their deputies in parliament wear it. And Turkish women retain the yashmak.

Serajevo, Jugoslavia—Where the war started Moslem women are warring on modernization as instituted in Turkey. Only a few girl students go unveiled.

Washington—A machine has just completed 20 years of service in calculating tides for the coast and geodetic survey. Two years in advance it figures out high and low water at principal seaports to the minute and the tenth of a foot.

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Wise legislation has halted the ancient prejudice that dictated the exploitation of child labor for selfish gain. Guided by AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE it has routed greed. No longer are little children forced into slavery.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Dynasty Of Mrs. Potter Palmer Again May Rule Midwest Society

Chicago (AP).—The dynasty established in the 1880's by Mrs. Potter Palmer, whose edicts were law for nearly four decades, may be ruling midwest society again before many years.

The new social czar, if such she should prove, would be a granddaughter of the now almost fabulous social leader. She is Miss Bertha Palmer, a debutante of last season.

Until 1918, when the elder Mrs. Palmer died, the betowered brownstone mansion which dominated Lake Shore Drive was the citadel of prairie society and an invitation there was the goal of every social climber.

Just to be seen at one of Mrs. Palmer's affairs established social position and once all except two members of a smart club deserted their own tea when she issued cards on the same day.

Her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Potter Palmer, declined the social scepter and the throne was established in another castle a few blocks down the drive. Since her return from Switzerland several years ago Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick has been the recognized leader, although reported not to be fond of the post.

When Bertha Palmer made her debut, the last in the old mansion, her patrician air and striking likeness to her grandmother were noted. Then, too, she has been tutored by a governess who, while modern enough, has the older generation's point of view concerning social leadership.

Her grandmother was a belle in Louisville, Ky., in the heyday of bluegrass society before she married Potter Palmer, a Yankee who accumulated many millions in Chicago real estate, rising from a clerkship.

Society is a bit more casual now than in the days when Mrs. Palmer's house servants dressed in purple broadcloth and letters were reported to pass through 27 hands before they reached her.

The chances are that social life would see little change in manner should her granddaughter rise to power, for her manner is simple and unaffected. But tomorrow's debs, buzzing over teacups, may be pardoned if they are thrilled by their conjecturing which is all they can do until something more definite happens.

The Palmers, incidentally, sold the family home for $3,000,000 last year, and before many months will move into an apartment nearby.

AN ORACLE SPEAKS.

Fortunately Count Keyserling is not a Daniel come to judgment, for if he were American pride would stagger beneath such a blow as it has never before received. That is, the pride of white America, for the German "philosopher," after a lecturing tour of this country, has only praise for black America in his October Atlantic Monthly article. He solemnly informs us therein that "the greatest achievements of America, from the point of view of human culture, are due to her black sons," for "nothing that America has created so far can bear comparison with the convincing power of negro dancing and music." And to think that most of us whites, while genuinely pleased with negro spirituals so-called, have been so blind as to regard the cake-walk and the shimmy as more "convincing" than nice!

This great "superiority," according to the German Count, is "enhanced by the great emotional endowment and the equally great gift of artistic expression of the negro." The reader gathers that the black man is "superior" because he has "soul," while the white American "is lacking in soul." Just what is meant by "soul" is clear only to the extent that the word is not employed in the religious sense. The white American is also lacking in "vitality," and here the Count seems to mean virility, for he adds that "the (white) American man who has passed the forties with extraordinary frequency looks spinster-like." Curiously enough the Count dates the American negro's superlative development in dancing and music only as far back as his emancipation after the Civil War. One wonders if he has ever read "Uncle Remus" or has even a slight acquaintance with the negroes of ancestral Africa. Still more curiously, he decides that the negroes are the true Americans, which the whites are not, to say nothing of the Indians. By way of proving this extraordinary assertion, he says that the white American is "rarely creative," while the black has "native-born feelings true to the American soil" and "almost all expressions of American emotionalism seem to be of negro origin." If any of us should reveal a disposition to comment on all this with irreverent levity, the Count would probably attribute it to our lack of "soul"—for he is nothing if not prodigiously serious.

However, many of us, especially in the South, will be disposed to agree with this German oracle when he writes: "In the South a tacitly acknowledged caste system is in existence, and nothing wiser could have been invented. There is equality before the law, but the white and the black lead separate lives. Such a state of things is always possible; not only do the various species of animals live closely together without mixing, but a similar situation has existed in most countries inhabited by various races—such as India, for instance. The American Constitution, however, takes care that the superiority of one caste does not involve oppression of the others."

SEATING MRS. GANN.

For some time the seating of Mrs. Gann seems to have been the most important problem confronting official Washington. The front-page dispatches dealing with the matter have varied day after day. We learned that Secretary Stimson had sought refuge from the difficulty by arranging a stag dinner in honor of Premier MacDonald. We learned that there was no escape for Mr. Hoover and he must decide where the lady would sit at his dinner to the same visitor, then and there finally "settling the status" of the Vice-President's sister. Then we learned that Vice-President Curtis had come to the rescue of the worried authorities and "graciously waived the rights of precedence" for his sister so that the wife of the British Ambassador might have the place of honor. But it now appears that Mrs. Gann herself consents to the "waiving" in this instance only, for we read that in consenting "to be seated to the left of the President" this is "under the matters only a truce."

It is fortunate that for a while at least Washington's highest officials can give their attention to important matters of state although it is confidently presumed that the precedence "feud" will soon break out afresh. For Mrs. Gann is said to have left Topeka with "a determined glint in her eye," and it is reported to be matter of common knowledge in Washington that the wives of the Senators, as well as Mrs. Speaker Longworth decline to admit that the wife of a Vice-President—or even her cousins and aunts—can rightfully rank above them.

With obvious intent the New York Times observes that "when people drive forth in automobiles they go not to see advertisements but the scenery." There is a widespread and rather well-founded impression that in most cases they drive too fast to see either, and at any rate are interested only in speed.

LET BOYS PLAY FOOTBALL.

The football season is always an anxious time for parents.

As they remember that during the season of the previous year there were a certain number of deaths, many broken collar bones, dislocations, and fractures of arms and legs, they wonder if they are not foolish in allowing their boy to play.

The very fact that their boy wants to play football should be a source of pride to them; that he is willing to measure his speed, strength, and skill against boys of his own weight and age.

What does real football training mean?

Physically, it means that he must cut out his smoking, his overeating, his late hours, and be willing to turn out regularly and daily for practice. This means strong heart and lungs, with all round increase in muscular strength.

Mentally, it means that he must think quickly and act quickly. He must be alert to catch every signal and put himself into the right spot at the right time. That he must be prepared to act promptly when his team's signals go wrong, or those of his opponents do likewise. There is a mental training here that can be obtained in no other way; the ability to act quickly in an emergency.

Morally, he learns that he must sit on the substitute bench and perhaps get only an occasional chance to play. That he must play on the front line when he would like to be on the back lines, or vice versa. That when he does play he must sacrifice his own inclinations or ambitions for the good of the team.

He learns also that he must control himself, must control his temper. If he loses his temper it means banishment from the game for two minutes, ten minutes, or longer. During his absence he knows that his fellow players, tired and worn, must do his work while he is out of the game.

He learns also to take a licking. No matter how good he is or his team may be, a licking is bound to come sometimes and he learns to take it.

Do you wonder then that very few football players find their way into hospitals for nervous or mental diseases?

Their bodies become strong enough for the jolts or shocks of life, and their minds likewise become adjusted to these jolts and shocks.

So let your boy play football because of the physical and mental development that can be thereby obtained.

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

By HAYSIE GREIG

SYNOPSIS: Barbara Landon, a beautiful debutante, marries Ray Landon, millionaire, ambitious lawyer. Barbara and Ray engaged three years before, find they suddenly disillusioned on discovering on a fortune that must be expended on ship-board. Barbara, desperately in love with Ray, begs him to forget the obligations of their fortune and marry her. When he refuses she starts on a mad plan to show him that she will win her own way and be "some" and afterwards Ray shows her that he loves her really needs her, and they are married, soon to the disappointment of a fortune-hunting nobleman, Balm Henderson. Immediately after their marriage the society of fortune millions hounds their happiness and Ray makes it plain that he will not live on his wife's money.

Chapter 8

A BARRIER OF DOLLARS

BARBARA and Ray both felt ill at ease. She was biting her lip to keep back the tears. He was being so difficult. How she wished he would see things in the sensible way she did! Everything then would be wonderful.

She had not expected him to keep on being stubborn about accepting her money once he had given in sufficiently to marry her!

But, by the look on his face, she knew that it would be useless to argue with him in his present mood.

"At least, won't you let me give you our honeymoon abroad as a wedding gift?"

He moved uneasily in his chair. It hurt him terribly to have to refuse her, and on this day of all days, too.

She looked so sweet and appealing as she sat there, her hazel eyes fixed anxiously upon his face. There was no other girl in the whole world who could compare with her, he was convinced of that.

All the same he said:

"I can't do it, Barbara. I'm awfully sorry, dear, but we've got to get this straight from now on."

She regarded him with a hurt frown.

"I don't see why it should matter which one of us has the money so long as it's there. Think how much luckier we are than most young couples starting out!"

But he could not see it from her point of view.

"I don't agree with you, Barbara. I don't think a lot of money is altogether a blessing when you're young like we are. I'm normal enough to want to work for you and it hurts me to think that I'll never be able to give you anything that you couldn't have bought as easily for yourself." He broke off abruptly. "However, that's beside the point. For the present I'm afraid you'll have to accustom yourself to my blowing on that old saxophone, my dear."

The girl's teeth were set over her lower lip and with Barbara that was a dangerous sign. Her eyes flashed angrily as she snatched her hand out of his.

"It's that rotten old pride of yours! You let it keep us apart for three years and now it's going to ruin our honeymoon. How do you think I'll feel when the passengers know that my husband is playing in the orchestra?"

"We could keep our marriage a secret," he suggested.

"No, I don't believe in that. I'd planned on our leaving the ship at Southampton and going on up to London for a couple of weeks, but, of course, if you're bent in finishing this tour just in order to make me feel small and foolish—"

Her voice trailed away and hurt, angry tears brimmed to her eyes. Ray could not hold out in the face of her obvious misery. Desperately he wanted to make her happy.

"Barbara, Barbara, please don't talk like that. I'll do whatever you want me to and, dear, I'll let you lend me the money. I'll give you an I. O. U. for it."

She agreed, although she smiled to herself. She took the note from him later, but more in the light of an amusing farce they were staging than anything serious.

Dusk was stealing over them; all around, in the Bois, lights were popping up; it was growing chilly on the veranda.

"Let's go in and dance for a while," she murmured, as she tucked her fingers contentedly through his. "And please don't run away more this evening, Ray—I want this to be such a wonderful night——"

"It will be," he assured her, squeezing her fingers. "How could it fail to be? You and I . . ."

"And Paris," she broke in, smiling up into his eyes. "Where could you find a more perfect trio?"

Late that night they returned to the hotel. They were tired, both of them, tired and keyed up at the same time.

It seemed to come over them suddenly, as they stood there beside the white twin beds, that they were actually married.

They smiled at each other, faintly and tremulously, each avoiding the other's eyes. They might have been strangers, in that moment, meeting for the first time under embarrassing circumstances.

Indeed, Barbara was asking herself, if this tall, dark, lean man was actually her husband. She felt that she scarcely knew him. Of course, she had known him well three years ago, but she had seen many indications that he had changed.

Now, suddenly, she felt a little afraid of the thing she had done; shy of him too. To hide her embarrassment she commenced humming one of the jazz tunes to which they had been dancing while she tapped a pointed-silver-shod toe on the floor.

Ray, too, seemed awed by the strange unreality of that moment. That Barbara Landon, whom for three years he had loved, but loved as one loves the unattainable, should be standing there as his wife seemed incredible.

He wanted to take her in his arms, tell her of his love, but, in that moment, he was more embarrassed than she. With a quick, nervous movement he turned away and, crossing to the dressing table, commenced doing something fussy and unnecessary to his tie.

An arm chair had been placed invitingly beside the glass doors that led out onto a minute balcony. Presently, as she came over to him, he put his arms about her and pulled her down onto his knees. She curled herself up on his lap like a sleepy kitten, burying her face against his shoulder.

"Yes, Ray."

He sat there, motionless for some time, staring out into the night. Presently, a slight frown wrinkled his brow and twice he opened his mouth and shut it again. Finally he said:

"Barbara girl, we've got to make a success of this—this marriage of ours, haven't we?"

She looked into his face wonderingly.

"But, of course, it's going to be a success."

He echoed after her, "Of course," then a moment later, as though he had tried but could not keep back what was in his mind, "but don't think it will be easy. We're both pig-headed. You scored in our first bout today, but you're not going to do so every time."

She sighed. Here he was being difficult again. But she had no intention of arguing with him then.

"How absurd you are. You should know perfectly well that I don't want to 'score' as you put it. From now on everything will a 50-50 proposition."

He opened his mouth to say something further, but quickly she placed a soft-palmed hand over it.

"Don't let's talk any more now, Ray. We only hurt each other when we talk. Just love me, tonight, Ray. . . . You do love me . . . ?"

He said chokingly:

"I do love you, Barbara," and drew her down more tightly into his arms.

WHY WE DO IT

Why We Can't Stop Worrying

By MEHRAN K. THOMSON, Ph. D.
Author of "The Springs of Human Action"

"DON'T WORRY" is poor advice. It is more often given than taken. In fact it is never taken.

If a person can stop worrying he doesn't need the advice. If he can't stop, the advice is worse than useless. It makes bad matters worse by impressing upon the worried person that he needs to stop. And the fact that he can't stop makes him that much more uncomfortable and adds another thing to worry about.

The worry that plays havoc with you is the kind you can't shake! You know it is foolish to worry, that "Worry never was worth while" and all the rest of the platitudes concerning worry.

First of all you need to know the true nature of your mental condition when you are having a worry that stays with you and will not be ousted. Such worries are decidedly obsessions and must be regarded and dealt with as such.

An obsession is descriptive of a state of mind in which the person is marooned on a single idea. Obsessions may be temporary or permanent. When permanent the individual is taken to an insane asylum where he spends the remainder of his natural life thinking only on one subject or going through the same routine act over and over again. This is illustrated by the woman who spends all her time going through the motions of sewing leather soles on an imaginary shoe. Her fiance, who was tragically killed on the eve of their wedding, was a cobbler.

The milder and more natural type of obsession is illustrated by the queer impulses we all have to do crazy things, we know to be foolish and the humming of the same tune over and over again, etc.

Excessive worry is another form of this mental trait and differs in degree as other obsessions are likely to differ.

The habitual worrier is obsessed with some fear idea which stays at the focus of consciousness and makes him unhappy. He knows that the fear is unfounded and that it does absolutely no good to worry. But he can no more prevent it than he can prevent the crazy tune from ringing in his head over and over again. The harder he tries to stop worrying the worse it is because in this way he keeps the idea persistently at the focus of consciousness where it should not be.

In so far as there is any remedy at all it consists not in fighting the worry but in distracting the mind, in getting interested in other things by doing something that will require so much time and strength that there will be none left for obsessive worry.

BEWARE OF DIETS WITHOUT BULK

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Protect You

People are more careful than ever before about diet. They diet to clear complexions. They avoid certain foods to stay thin. They eat others to get fat. But many are running a serious danger because they are missing the "roughage" or "bulk" foods that every person must have to keep well.

As a result, constipation gets in its deadly work. Headaches, listlessness, circled eyes are only the first symptoms. In the end, constipation ruins health, wrecks beauty and may cause serious disease.

Don't neglect your daily roughage. That is nature's rule. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply it. A healthful cereal to eat each day. To use in cooked dishes or to serve with milk or cream. To mix with other cereals.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—to prevent it. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. It is 100% bran. Doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Served by hotels, restaurants, dining cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THE MODE BECOMES MODEST AND EVEN DEMURE ON OCCASION

New York—The browns and russets of an October landscape are reflected in town clothes everywhere, and brought into relief by touches of green and flashes of red. In spite of all this warmth of tone, smart luncheon and tea places testify to the approval of black, especially when lightly touched with white. White galyak, ermine and lapin have become useful in simulating the highly approved "lingerie touch." Smart little bows of these smart pelts are characteristic of the season, and are used on velvet, Canton crepe, satin and even wool, for the black wool crepe dress is accepted everywhere as correct.

The re-entry of buttons as a decoration rather more than as a means of fastening is welcomed at this time when every Eve's daughter of us is striving to wax enthusiastic over the formalized note, and over trimmings even though they may seem superfluous. Buttons in double rows make an amusing decoration on the molded bodice of a panne velvet evening gown, for they are of course, crystals.

Necklines are creeping up as skirts creep downward. The smartest dresses expose little of the neck and some end happily at the throat. In short, with knees, wrists and necklines covered who can say that modern fashions lack modesty? If they reveal the figure it is because of their line rather than any attempt at brevity or transparency.

Tailored Designs Liked by Girls of School Age

Schoolgirls of this year present a smartly tailored appearance. They wear the tailored or semi-tailored two-piece suit, the single frock requiring an outer wrap and the three-piece ensemble. By an amusing paradox, as the tendency in dress for women grows toward a more supple style, the new costumes for girls become more tailored, and even boyish, says a fashion writer in the New York Times. Clothes of the various kinds for girls between six and fourteen differ slightly, according to age and individuality, but the designs are simple, however fine the fabrics and workmanship.

Woolen materials in a large assortment of weaves and patterns promise to dominate the season. Lightweight, closely woven wool—covert, tweed, kasha, flannel, wool crepe and several kinds of novelty goods, firmly and finely woven, that lend themselves to plaiting, stitching and tailored finish, are the fashion leaders. Plaids are stylish materials in all daytime frocks and are used in a number of picturesque models of one, two and three pieces. The Scotch tartans are particularly attractive in some fetching little suits with the color ensemble worked out in a very complete manner.

For example, a suit using a plaid of red in three shades and black is composed of a gored skirt, a white pongee shirt with long sleeves, finished with cuff bands and a small turn-over collar. The jacket, of Eton cut, is made of black velveteen and shows a new style of closing with a cluster of bright red tail buttons sewn near the bottom and on each sleeve at the cuff.

The various clans are represented in these suits, each with a tartan of different colors and a coat in solid color—almost always of velveteen. The popular blue and green plaid with the bar of white is used for the skirt in a suit with a blouse of white linen, frilled down the front and around the collar and cuffs. The cuffs turn back over the coat, which in this ensemble is small and is made of hunter's green velvet. The assortment of plaids and combinations with plain goods is large and entertaining in its diversified models.

A Chicagoan, robbed of his suit of clothes by footpads, dashed into an alley and wrapped himself with a sport extra. This is a way, of course, of getting into the papers.

Considering the manner in which the reducing fad has swept through women's wardrobes, father wonders how mother and the girls still manage to require so much luggage for vacation tours.

Heard on the bus: "The other night our favorite wife accused the Young Hopeful of using some of her new sun-tan powder, but investigation developed that he had only failed to wash his neck."

Cattle Branding Old

A little delving into history convinces one that the branding of live stock with hot irons is probably as old as the industry itself. For instance, British histories make direct references to the branding of cattle and horses as early as the Eighth century.

General Motors Dealers have adopted this Standard Price Tag

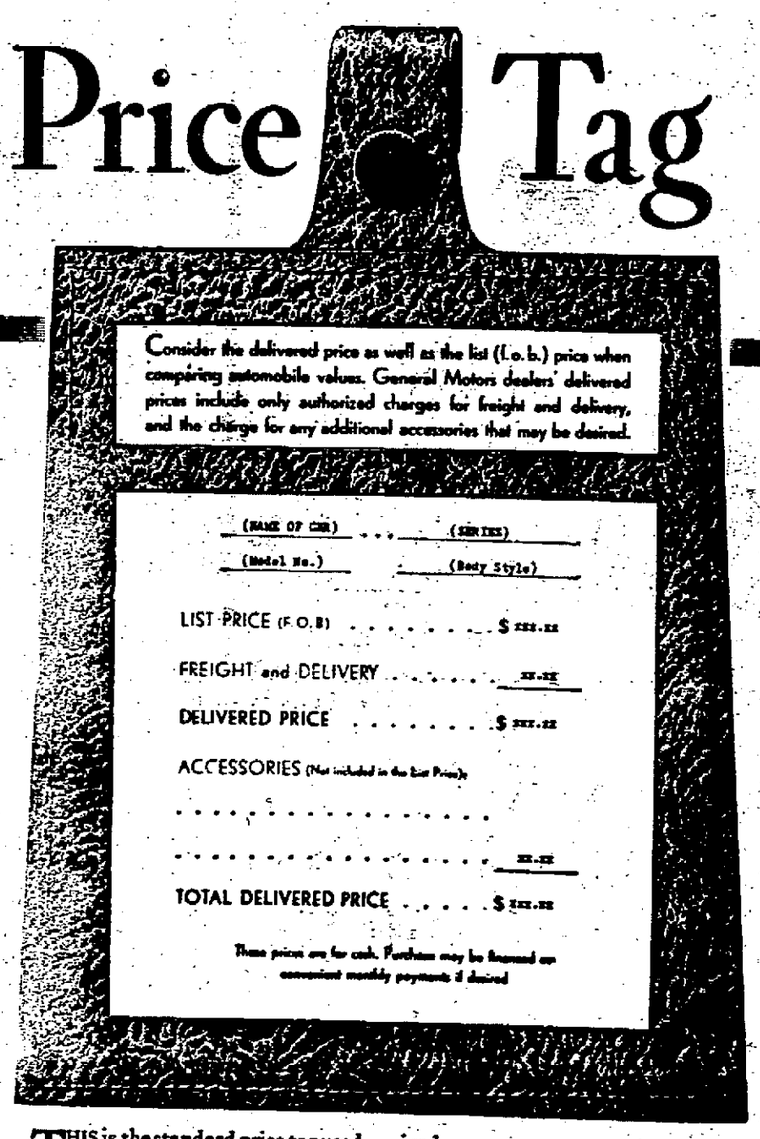
THERE is a difference between the list (f.o.b.) price of a new automobile and its delivered price—the price you actually pay. This difference consists of certain additions made by the dealer.

In line with General Motors' policy of giving the public all the facts, its dealers show you exactly what their additions are. They are using the standard price tag illustrated here. It is attached to the steering wheels of new cars displayed in their showrooms.

Everything is set forth frankly. Every charge is fair and reasonable. Nothing is hidden. There is no extra charge to permit a seemingly better trade-in offer. No extra charge to cover advertising, etc. You are entitled to buy a General Motors car with full knowledge of just what makes up the difference between the list price and the delivered price.

Study this tag. Use it as your guide in comparing automobile values. Look beyond the list price. Find out just exactly what goes into the delivered price of a new car—for that is the price you pay.



THIS is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the delivered prices of their new cars.

List Price. The f. o. b. price advertised by the factory.

Freight and Delivery. An authorized amount to cover the freight charges paid by the dealer and the cost of unloading, inspecting, supplying fuel and oil—preparing the car for delivery to you.

"Where you meet your friends"

Did All That Was Claimed For It In My Case Says This Man

Connelly Resident Highly Pleased With Results Obtained Through Using Dr. French's Nu-Erb.

"It was through a friend that I first heard of the Nu-Erb and now after using it a while, I am here to say that it has done all that was claimed for it and more," said Mr. Edward McKinley, well known resident of Connelly, N. Y. (Near Kingston).

"For the past year or more, I had been troubled with indigestion and gas in my stomach, there were times when this condition would become so bad and cause me so much pain and distress that I scarcely knew what to do to get relief. In addition, I suffered from dizzy spells, floating spots before my eyes and my nerves seemed to be in an extremely weakened condition.

"Since using the Nu-Erb, however, these troubles have practically all disappeared. I scarcely ever have any trouble with my stomach although I eat just about anything I want. The dizzy spells, spots before my eyes and nervousness have all disappeared and my entire system has become so much stronger and better in every way that I am feeling like a different man. For this I owe full thanks to Nu-Erb and I gladly recommend it to others."

The virtue of Nu-Erb is due to a combination of herbs, roots, leaves and barks which act on the vital organs of the human body. Each one is a tonic within itself and combined they form one of the greatest medicines of the day for combatting disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

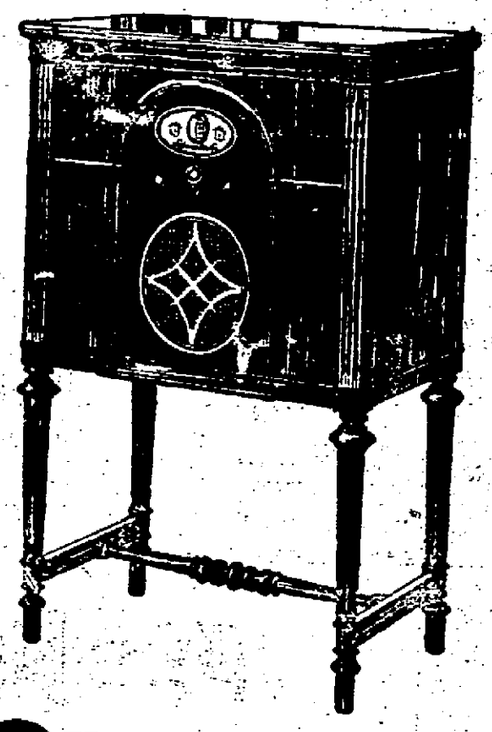
One Radio Stands Out From All Others—because it will do things other radios simply cannot equal.

That one radio is SILVER RADIO—guaranteed, for instance, to get more programs without an aerial than nine out of ten other radios can get with their big interference-collecting outdoor aerials!

That's a big claim—like that of the man who offered to "whip all comers with one arm tied behind his back". But SILVER RADIO is a mighty "big" radio. In side-by-side tests with other radios, SILVER RADIOS have produced startling results every time.

Take the four tests above. They can easily be applied to any radio (your Silver Radio dealer will make them for you), or give you a folder that tells how you can apply them to any radio anywhere. They'll show you the simply amazing difference between SILVER RADIO and all other radios. Then make any other test—the stiffer the better—that you can think of . . . For tone, in order that you may realize the simply gorgeous tonal possibilities of SILVER RADIO . . . For sharp tuning, to see how it brings in only one program at a time . . . Examine the marvelous beauty of SILVER RADIO cabinets.



When you're all through testing, you'll realize just why California owners of SILVER RADIOS can get Japan, Australia, New Zealand in their own homes in the wee morning hours . . . just why world-famous opera stars select SILVER RADIOS for their own homes because of its beauty of tone.

And, after all, why not have the best in your own home, too? . . . tell your SILVER RADIO dealer that you've "come to see his four amazing tests."

Startling New Features of SILVER RADIO

SILVER RADIO, product of the manufacturer who introduced screen-grid radio to America in 1927, is now, naturally, the most widely-imitated of all radios. But only SILVER RADIO has "everything new"—FOUR screen-grid tubes, screen-grid power detection, band-selector tuning, matched-impedance electro-dynamic speaker, Overtone Switch to minimize static, complete shielding, automatic voltage regulation where desired, and—ELIMINATION OF ALL AERIAL CONNECTION.

Rondout Lodge Celebrated

which presented to him their address of welcome, his reply to which, in his own handwriting, is in the possession of the present church edifice. During the anti-Masonic excitement which prevailed in this state during the early part of the last century, a copper plate from which was engraved upon parchment the certificate of membership in Livingston Lodge, was buried in the First Dutch Churchyard for safekeeping, and remained there for a long number of years, when it was finally dug up and presented to Judge Clearwater. It now has a place with the other relics of pre-Revolutionary Kingston in the archives of Kingston Lodge No. 10, F. & A. M., through the generosity of Brother A. T. Clearwater.

Unfortunately the minutes of the meetings of the Fraternity up to the year 1760 are lost, and therefore Kingston Lodge, No. 10, took the latter date as that of its organization, with Brother John Addison as its first master. Records of the regular meetings of Livingston Lodge No. 23, however, up to the 26th day of December, 1765, are still in existance. For some reason, not known, the charter of the Lodge was surrendered until the 25th of August, 1768, when it was reorganized under the name of Kingston Lodge No. 22, with Brother Moses Cantine as master. At that time the Honorable DeWitt Clinton was Grand Master of the State of New York and had on various occasions visited with the brethren in Kingston.

The regular communications of the lodge were held every full moon in a room in the old court house. It was the rule in those days to have a grand celebration on the 24th day of June, being St. John's Day. The brethren would march to the First Dutch Church and listen to an eloquent discourse by the minister, then march over to one of the taverns where a grand banquet would be spread, after which toasts would be responded to by various brethren.

On the 1st day of December, 1821, Kingston Lodge proceeded to the house of Isaac L. Hasbrouck, in the town of Marlborough and instituted Rising Sun Lodge No. 336, which existed a few years and then surrendered its charter.

On the 17th day of September, 1824, a large number of the brethren of Kingston Lodge, upon special invitation, visited Red Hook and took part with the brethren of that village in welcoming the illustrious General Marquis De Lafayette, who stopped there on his memorable trip up the Hudson River.

Kingston and Rondout were naturally much exercised over the building of the waterway that was to connect the Delaware and Hudson rivers. In the old lodge record of 1825 is the following interesting account: "The Lodge was invited by the managers of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company to take part in their canal completion celebration. The invitation was accepted, and the brethren proceeded to Eddyville in carriages, formed in procession after arriving (headed by the Master), proceeded to the side-water lock, and there laid the cap-stone in due Masonic form, which completed this great artificial channel from the Delaware to the Hudson river. Brother Myer delivered the address upon this occasion which was extremely able, and listened to by the vast crowd of spectators with marked attention. At the conclusion of these services the members of the lodge and other guests were invited by the managers of the canal on board of a float fitted up expressly for the occasion, and proceeded several miles up the canal. A band accompanied the party and discoursed sweet music for the ceremonies, and upon their return to this place the whole party partook of a bountiful repast provided at the house of H. Radcliff." This latter entertainment, we think, must have been at the expense of the lodge, as we find by their proceedings the "tell moore" following that $71.34 was appropriated from the lodge funds to pay for the dinners at Eddyville, written in the bold, legible handwriting of John Van Buren, then secretary of Kingston Lodge.

From 1826 to 1829 the work and transactions of the lodge were carefully transcribed. On the minutes in the latter year, Brother John Van Buren was elected master. For three or four years no work was done by the lodge. A few members met each year and re-elected the old officers to their various positions. Although these devoted brethren met secretly and kept the organization of the lodge intact, they kept no record from 1833 to 1850, on account of the anti-Masonic sentiment prevailing throughout the country, because of the Morgan trouble. When the unpopularity of Free Masonry died out, the brethren got together on the 13th of November, 1850, and accepted a new charter that had been granted by the Grand Lodge to Kingston Lodge No. 10, with the Venerable Brother John Van Buren still its master. Since that time Freemasonry has prospered in Ulster county.

The above historical information is written at this time in order that due credit may be given to those who were the founders of Masonry in our county, those who "carried on" during the difficult times and made it possible for Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., to be established.

In 1854, Kingston Lodge, No. 10, gave its consent to the organization of a new lodge in Rondout. At that time there were two separate villages, Kingston and Rondout. Fifteen members of Kingston Lodge signed the application for a charter for Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M. The minutes of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., show that on September 18, 1854, A. L. 5854, that a meeting of Free and Accepted Masons was held at the Arenas Lodge rooms, No. 430, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, in the village of Rondout, pursuant to notice, for the purpose of organizing a lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at Rondout and receiving a charter from the grand lodge and instituting the officers of said lodge for the balance of the then Masonic year. There were present Right Worshipful Brother Deputy Grand Master John Van Buren, Worshipful Master Lorenzo A. Sykes, Warren Chipp, Worshipful Master of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Johannes D. Hasbrouck, George W. Smith, Martin G. Hayes, Edmond Surdam, John W. Grisham, George C. Woolsey, John P. Davis, W. H. McElroy, Augustus Decker, William Templar, F. W. Young, John B. Sykes acting as worshipful master, George W. Smith, acting senior warden, M. G. Hayes, acting junior warden, I. D. Hasbrouck, acting secretary, Warren Chipp, acting treasurer, Edmond Surdam, acting senior deacon, John W. Grisham, acting junior deacon, Aaron G. Newkirk, acting tiler. Whereupon it was, on motion, resolved, that Rondout Lodge now about to be organized adopt the constitution and by-laws of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, with the exception of the night of meeting which shall be substituted Monday evening instead of Tuesday as in said by-laws, until such time as they may be prepared to adopt others more suitable. After which Right Worshipful Brother Van Buren presented the members of Rondout Lodge with a charter from the grand lodge of the state of New York appointing them a lodge to be named Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., empowering them to work and do all things that might be necessary and to make men Masons and appointing Brother Johannes D. Hasbrouck to be the first master, Brother George W. Smith to be the first senior warden and Brother Martin G. Hayes to be the first junior warden. These officers were duly installed the same evening, together with Edmond Surdam as senior deacon and John W. Grisham as junior deacon. The following appointive officers were then duly appointed and installed: George C. Woolsey, secretary; John P. Davis, treasurer, and A. B. Hathaway, tiler.

The first petitions for membership were received from G. F. Van Beck and William Lawton, the minutes showing that they were accompanied by the "necessary fee". The minutes of the second meeting on September 25, 1854, show that the petitions of G. F. Van Beck and William Lawton were accepted and that they received their first degree in Masonry on the evening of September 25. In this connection it is interesting to note that the period which elapsed between the receiving of the petition and action thereon must have been one week at that time.

The Lodge had its regular meetings in a building on Ferry street until January 5, 1857, when it is noted in the records that the first meeting at the corner of Division and Garden streets (now Broadway and Strand), took place. The Lodge has continued to meet in these same rooms from 1857 up to this date.

It is impossible to set forth with as great a detail as our history deserves all the important events of the Lodge. At many places in the record we find that various brothers were reimbursed for amounts paid out by them for the relief of needy brothers.

Prior to 1898, the Lodge purchased a treed shaped plot of land in Montrepose cemetery for a burial place of our brothers who were so circumstanced that their families were unable to provide a proper burial ground for them and on St. John's day, 1898, a splendid shaft in the form of a column of Jachin and Boaz was dedicated on this plot in Montrepose cemetery. The column was designed by Brother Canfield and the necessary funds for its erection were provided by voluntary contributions from the members of the Lodge. Dedicatory ceremonies were conducted by Most Worshipful Brother Sutherland, then Grand Master of Masons in the state of New York, Worthy Brother Marks Jacobs was Master at the time. This post and the monument which is erected upon it stands as a commanding position in the cemetery as a monument for all time of the honor and respect of the brethren of Rondout Lodge to not only those of its members whose bodies are there interred, but also that of the members of other lodges whose bodies are at rest there. A suitable head stone, in keeping with the character of the central monument, is placed at the head of the grave of every deceased Mason buried in the plot.

Rondout Lodge has always taken a prominent part through its influence for every good and every commendable object which has come to its attention, not only for the benefit of the Craft, but also for the world at large. During the World War, Rondout Lodge was represented in the defense of our country by the service of many of its members under the Stars and Stripes.

Its membership has grown from that indicated in the minutes of its first meeting 75 years ago, to 350 Master Masons as of December 31st, 1928.

The second Master of Rondout Lodge was Lorenzo Sykes, whom it will be noted took part in the exercises in connection with the opening of the Delaware and Hudson Canal at Eddyville, as heretofore related in this history. A portrait in oil of Worshipful Brother Sykes adorns our Lodge rooms.

If space permitted, it would be very interesting to the Craft to here relate the names of a large number of our deceased brethren who took such an important part in placing Rondout Lodge on the firm foundation which it now rests. These worthy brothers were prominent in business, professional and civic activities throughout their lives and by reason of the fact that they were interested in these outside activities other than the lodge work itself, shows that they carried out the command which was received in the Lodge to be good men and Masons.

At the present time, Brother James Tongue and Brother John Perry are the only members of our Lodge, now living, who have been members for fifty years or more. I take this opportunity to express, on behalf of the Lodge, congratulations to them upon their long and fruitful labors in the vineyard of Masonry.

To those who have passed on, I can simply say that their good work and noble deeds have earned them a reward at the hands of the Great Architect of the Universe and our fervent hope is that they are now "In that house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

The following is a list of the Masters of Rondout Lodge, No 343, F. & A. M., from the time of its constitution in 1854 to the present date:

I appreciate that this history but very feebly recounts our illustrious history, but I trust that it may serve as an incentive to our membership to delve more deeply and exhaustively into the many interesting things which are recorded in the minutes of the lodge for the past seventy-five years.

At this time I wish to thank the members of the committee which was constituted for the purpose of making arrangements for our Seventy-fifth Anniversary, for their work, thoughtful suggestions and labors in making this two-day celebration of ours a successful one, a happy one and one which may be looked upon with interest and pride by those members of the Craft who are to come along after we have laid down the working tools of life.

ALLIGERVILLE.

Alligerville, Oct. 7.—It is noted that Mr. Smith of Toledo, Ohio and Allen Dean of Sundown, N. Y., are supposedly the only surviving members of the 120th Reg. N. Y. Civil War. Jerimiah Young of this village is also a surviving member. He belonged to Co. L of the New York 120th regiment, was wounded, losing a leg in the battle of the Wilderness. Mr. Young will be 85 years old the fourth of December and is now in feeble condition.

Mrs. Rose Witter of Kingston spent the week-end with Mrs. Josephine Hoar.

Charles DeGroadt, steward of Marlboro-Blenheim Hotel, Atlantic City, with his two sons, visited his father, Philip DeGroadt over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Markle of Rutherford, N. J., are at their summer home in this place.

The Ladies' Aid will meet Wednesday afternoon, October 9, at the home of Mrs. Frank Stevens, Kyserike.

Relatives from Waldeen called on Mr. and Mrs. Eli V. Evans Sunday afternoon.

Will Lecture On Food For Young Children

MISS HELEN HUBBELL

The food needs of the small son or daughter in the family are different from those of his father, not only in amount and ease of digestion, but also in content, according to Miss Helen Hubbell, nutrition specialist from the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell University, who will speak at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon, October 9th, beginning at 2 p. m., on the small child's food requirements. The adult needs only food materials for energy and body repair, but the child is growing and must be given special foods for growth—proteins, minerals and vitamins for stronger muscles, larger bones, and the second set of teeth. He needs also to be storing away materials for body fat.

It is up to the mother to serve foods for the child to meet these needs. To do it she must know what foods will supply them. Some of the foods listed by Miss Hubbell for muscle building are milk, eggs and meat; for energy, are milk, cereals, sugar and fat; for blood are eggs and green vegetables.

Miss Hubbell has had wide experience in the field of nutrition. She spent last year doing graduate study at Columbia University where she worked under some of the foremost nutritionists in the country. She has taught nutrition at the University of Washington and for several years was with the Red Cross as nutritionist working in two health centers with the Henry Street Settlement Nurses in New York city. During the war she spent some time in France doing canteen work with the Y. M. C. A.

This will be the first lecture in the series of three which make up the Training School for Parents especially mothers of little children. All persons are free to attend any or all of the lectures and are asked to come a little early to this first lecture in order to register.

The rains of last week served to freshen up the pastures and start a number of springs to functioning again. Clover in the meadows is now coming up thick, and other grasses show a correspondingly vigorous growth. Barring an early killing frost, the pasturage will be sufficiently heavy on most farms to take care of the cattle for several weeks, thus insuring a considerable saving to the dairymen in feed and cut roughage.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson have returned from an enjoyable automobile trip through several upstate counties.

The Ramapo Valley Independent reports the engagement of Rev. D. Y. Brink, of Churchville, Pa., and Miss Frances Stevens, of Weehawken, N. J., the nuptials to take place on November 5. Mr. Brink, who is pastor of the Reformed church at Centerville, lived in Shokan as a boy during the time when his father, the Rev. Henry Brink, occupied the pulpit of the Reformed church here. The younger Brink graduated from Rutgers college in '26 at the age of nineteen, and from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary in 1929.

Two marriages took place in Shokan on October 4, 1888. The wedding of John Cure and Jennie Hill took place at Isaac Hill's and the young couple left for Tennessee on the following day; Herman Eckert, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Millard Eckert, and Delia Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bush, were the other two newlyweds on this date.

The political pot, while not actually boiling yet, nevertheless begins to simmer a bit. Several of the local candidates are running on past records. Chester Lyons, choice of the Republicans for supervisor, is the present incumbent of the office, while Charles Jansen is now collector, again makes the race on the Republican ticket. Martin J. Every, chairman of the board of assessors, is the Republican candidate for the assessorship in District No. 2, his opponent being John Jordan who has had several years of experience as a member of the board. Ernest Eckert, superintendent of highways, is having another try for the office, running under the star, while Fred Weidner, justice in the second district, is the Democratic nominee for that office. Claude Bell, constable, has been named by the Democrats for the collectorship. Harry Braithwaite is again running for school director on the Republican ticket. Mr. Lyons and Alonso Haver, the Democratic nominee for the supervisorship, are local agents for the Chevrolet and Ford cars, respectively, a fact which, while it probably will have no bearing on the election in their particular contest, is somewhat in the nature of an unusual occurrence.

Thursday, October 7, 1852, was a big day for the Democrats of Olive; the district assembly convention met at Thomas Hill's place in Shokan and nominated John Lounsberry as candidate for member of assembly. There was also a hickory pole raising, with the usual program of speeches and hurrahs aplenty, near Mr. Hill's house.

Kohler Sinks Hold Water!

Why shouldn't a kitchen sink hold water without the use of a pan—can you tell us?

The ultra-modern Kohler Sinks that we sell do hold water. They have a remarkable new improvement, the Duostrainer, to keep the water in when you want it and let it out with a rush when you are through. An added convenience is a removable strainer cup which catches debris and lifts out for easy emptying.

The Duostrainer is only one big new efficiency feature of Kohler Sinks. Come in and let us tell you about the others and show you the Kohler fixtures in color.

Don't Pay
"More than it's Worth"
for ANY radio ~ ~

"The best in radio" is worth almost any price you have to pay for it—and not one cent more! To save a few dollars (or many dollars) and rob yourself of the supreme enjoyment a really high-class radio can give you—is poor economy.

But, before you buy—make sure you are getting the best that the radio field has to offer. And then be sure that you are not paying more than the lowest market price for that "best."

C. A. Earl Radio offers you a triumph of realism in tone and volume. Voice or instrument heard on the C. A. Earl is that voice or instrument exactly as it is heard in the broadcasting station. C. A. Earl Hair-line Super-Selectivity brings in the station you want perfectly—when the traffic on the air is at its thickest. C. A. Earl Distance and Silent Operation will prove a revelation to you.

Compare C. A. Earl Performance with that of any radio you please. We are confident you will agree that there can be nothing finer in radio than the new C. A. Earl models.

Then compare their prices. You will understand why the C. A. Earl, unknown six months ago, is now one of America's most popular radios. Come in for a demonstration today.

Leehive Elected Grand Knight

William F. Leehive, newly elected grand knight of Kingston Council, No. 377, Knights of Columbus, and a panel of officers to serve under his administration, were installed by District Deputy Florian P. Wingert, former grand knight of Kingston Council, at the regular meeting in the K. of C. Home Monday night.

Grand Knight Leehive was born in the village of Whitesport, N. Y., on July 27, 1905, and became a resident of Kingston in 1909. He attended St. Joseph's parochial school, from which he was graduated in 1919, and later attended Kingston High School for three years, after which he decided to enter into the business world. He is at present employed at the Kaiserman & Mitchel Silk Mills.

Joining Kingston Council in March, 1924, the new grand knight has been one of the most active members on the roster of the council. In October, 1924, seven months after becoming a member he was elected to the office of warden and served two years. From that office he was elected to the office of chancellor and also served two years in that office. While chancellor he served as chairman of the membership committee and through his efforts a class of eighty-five candidates was secured for Kingston Council. His next step and him to the office of deputy grand knight and he has faithfully held that office for the past year. During his terms as chancellor and deputy grand knight, his delivery of charges in the first and second degrees has won favorable mention of all who have heard him. During the past year he has had charge of the redecorating of the interior of the club house.

Officers elected by Kingston Council to support Grand Knight Leehive are as follows: John Rice, deputy grand knight; John Finn, chancellor; William C. Leonard, recorder; John F. Whalen, financial secretary; Patrick T. Murphy, treasurer; Addison Pratt, lecturer; Bernard A. Culloton, advocate; George Bolechowicz, warden; Andrew Sweeney, inside guard; Joseph Murphy, outside guard; William O'Reilly, John F. McGrane, William Golden, trustees; the Rev. Francis X. FitzPatrick, chaplain.

Physicians Not Long Lived

According to the Metropolitan Life insurance company, physicians have no advantage in longevity, as one might expect from their profession. On the contrary, they do not live as long as the ordinary policy holders. At the age of thirty, when a physician begins his career, the doctor's expectation of life is two years less than that of the general population.

HOW

DARK AGES BATTLE SHOUT HAS BEEN HANDED DOWN—If there is any expression that one would but almost anyone was characteristic or typical college Americanism, it is "Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" Yet if we did make anything we had on the origin for this exclamation of joy or satisfaction we would surely lose. For, astonishing as it may seem, "Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" comes to us from the Latin and was first used centuries ago.

Delving into the archives of history for our story we find that the word "Hip" is composed of the three initial letters of a Latin phrase meaning "Jerusalem is lost." The word "Hurrah" is of Slavonic origin, meaning "Paradise."

The entire expression "Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" was commonly used during the so-called "Dark ages," at which time there were periodic incursions and raids against the Jews. The battle cry of these hordes was "Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" indicating "Jerusalem is lost to the infidel and we are on the road to Paradise." Quite a far cry from its present sense and usage, but that is how it started.—Kansas City Star.

New Indian Babies Were "Hardened" by Parents

Winter or summer, the Creek Indian custom required that all babies be born out of doors. Immediately after arrival in this world the infant was plunged into cold water—the colder the better. The Creek father was fond of a large family and took great pride in promoting, to the best of his notions, the virility of his offspring. Sometimes the child was kept from nursing for four days, during which it was given roots to suckle for longevity. The boy babies played and were bedded on panther skins, for the panther, the Indian could tell you, was imbued with many qualities beyond his fellows in American woods—smelling, strength, cunning and a prodigious spring. The girl babies were laid on the skins of fawns, or buffalo calves, because such animals were shy and timorous. Occasionally the baby, boy or girl, was taken for its roll either in the snow or in an invigorating stream.—Detroit News.

How Term "Erase" Started

When a Roman settled his bill at an inn, as we do today at a hotel, he would remark, "Tabula Rasa"—the slate is scraped clean—his account being kept on a slate which would be scratched clean when his bill was paid.

So, the ancestors of our English word "erase" are the Latin "rasa" and "erasus," meaning "to scrape off."

Today, of course, the word "erase" is used to indicate the act of rubbing away some writing by means of a soft piece of rubber called an "eraser." This, however, preserves only in a sense, the old idea of the word, which is apparent after examining the history of the expression and its original usage.

How Science Helps Leper

Science is making great strides in the treatment of the once-considered incurable leprosy, and leprosy is fast losing its terrors.

Science possibly has a good deal to discover with regard to the disease yet, but there is not the slightest doubt as to the beneficial results of treatment with chaulmoogra and hydnocarpus oils. One extremely valuable result of this treatment is that, for the first time in the 3,000-year-old history of the disease, large numbers of patients are coming forward for treatment in the earlier stages of the disease instead of concealing it, and remaining a source of infection to others.

How to Measure Rainfall

The simplest kind of rain-gauge is a round narrow-necked bottle with a flat bottom and a funnel having the same diameter as the bottle across the mouth. If it is impossible to secure a bottle and funnel having the same diameter it is necessary to make some calculations. Find the area of the bottom of the jar and the area of the mouth of the funnel. Multiply the depth of the water by the area of the bottom of the jar and divide the result of the area of the mouth of the funnel. This should give the rainfall with approximate accuracy.

How "Harbinger" Originated

The word "harbinger" is derived from "herberge," meaning lodging or inn. Originally a harbinger was a person who went ahead of the royal household and made arrangements in advance for lodging. Later an agent who made advance arrangements for quartering troops was called a harbinger.

Edison Jubilee Set In Scenes Of Past

The Ford historical village at Dearborn, Mich., is assuming form for the Edison jubilee October 21. Above is shown the work of reproducing Independence Hall; below is the restoration of Edison's Ft. Myers, Fla., laboratory. At the left is an interesting picture of Mr. Edison today; at the right as he appeared when he invented the electric lamp (lower right).

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(Associated Press Correspondent)

Dearborn, Mich. (AP)—Scenes that tell the past and foretell the future will greet President Hoover when he comes to this city October 21 to participate in the ceremony memorializing the achievements of Thomas A. Edison.

The historical village that Henry Ford is creating on a 120-acre site already has assumed shape, and many of the buildings purchased in various parts of the country to form the "community of yesterday" have been restored to their original condition and placed on foundations.

Just across the road, to furnish a sharp contrast, is the huge Ford airport, with its large hangars and the tall mooring mast for dirigibles. Completing the modern note are the Ford engineering laboratories and the other buildings of the automobile plant, "just around the corner" from the scenes of an almost forgotten past.

As the day is to honor mainly Thomas A. Edison, no little interest will center in the actual laboratories and offices used by Mr. Edison in Menlo Park, N. J., and in Ft. Myers, Fla., which Ford has brought to Dearborn and constructed in the most minute detail.

It is here that Edison will reproduce his original experiment that brought the incandescent lamp to the world.

There will be interest, too, in the Edison machine shops and perhaps less serious but none the less keen interest in the small railway station where legend has it Edison once was thrown off a train near Port Huron by an irate conductor after the future inventor had set fire to an empty baggage car in the course of some experiments with phosphorus.

The visit to the Ford home, "Fairlane," will take President Hoover and Mr. Edison to another interesting section of the vast Ford estate. "Fairlane" skirts a trunk line highway, and tall trees permit a view from the road of only the top of the motor magnate's home.

JUROR WAS FRIEND AND LODGE BROTHER OF DEFENDANT.

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—A mistrial was declared today in the case of the more than 80 poultry dealers accused of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Law by monopolizing the live poultry industry in the Metropolitan area.

The mistrial was declared by Federal Judge John C. Knox when it was found that a juror was a friend and lodge brother of Benjamin Simon, one of the key defendants.

Counsel for the government and defense agreed, however, to accept the remaining jurors and the trial reopened as soon as a new one was chosen. The trial began yesterday.

The juror, Valentine Brown, a clerk, notified Judge Knox this morning of his friendship with Simon, and asked to be excused from jury duty because of his fear that the proceedings would embarass him.

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP).—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, whose absence from the capital during the visit of Prime Minister Mac Donald has prompted some comment in social circles, was in Washington today for what she described as a very short visit. She said she returned "in the middle of last night" and would leave "probably today or tomorrow." She said she did not intend to take part in any social entertainments, explaining her home here was not open. To further questioning she replied: "I never give interviews."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—Stock prices rallied for the third successive day today in response to a further easing of credit conditions and favorable trade news. A wave of selling swept over the market during the morning, carrying several of the leaders down 2 to 5 points, but support was quickly supplied and the market was headed up again by early afternoon.

Call money renewed at 6½ per cent, with the supply so plentiful that the rate was dropped to 6. Time money was reported to be available at 8¾ per cent for all maturities, which contrasts with a rate of 8¾ to 9 yesterday and a high of 9 to 9¼ last week.

Chemicals gave one of the most impressive demonstrations of group strength. Commercial Solvents jumped 25 points, Air Reduction 14 and United States Industrial Alcohol, United Carbon, and Columbian Carbon advanced 6 to 7½ points, the first named touching a new high. American Machine and Foundry ran up 20 points to a new peak at 279. Warren Brothers, Eastman Kodak and National Biscuit also reached new high ground.

United States Steel common sank 3 points to 216 and then rebounded to 221½. Early losses of 4 to 5 points in General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and Simmons were recovered, but renewed weakness cropped out in International Combustion.

New York, Oct. 8 (AP).—The trial of George A. McManus, for the murder of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler chief, was postponed today until November 11. It had been previously set for October 15.

After a conference today with attorneys for the state and defense Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., also announced he would not preside at the trial, as he had been scheduled to do.

The postponement puts the Rothstein trial over until after election insead of during the campaign, into which it was injected as one of the principal issues by anti-Tammany forces.

The trial was scheduled for a pre-election date as the direct result of campaign charges that McManus had never been brought to trial because it might bring out facts embarassing to Tammany politicians and office holders.

Judge Nott was appointed because he was a Republican and District Attorney Joab Banton appointed a Republican assistant to prosecute the trial, so that there could be no charge that Tammany officials had "hushed up" the proceedings.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Helen, of West Camp. Funeral was held Saturday morning from his home in West Camp at 10 o'clock. Interment in Rosendale Cemetery.

Thomas Moran of Glasco, died at the Benedictine Hospital here on Saturday, in his seventy-fourth year. He had been a resident of Glasco for many years and is survived by his wife, four daughters, Mrs. Martin Whitaker of Glasco, Mrs. John H. Sanglyn of Kingston, Mrs. W. H. Myer and Mrs. Earl F. The funeral of Joseph Fabysack was held this morning from the residence of his father, Thomas Fabysack, 161 Fourth avenue, and thence to St. Mary's Church where at 10 o'clock a solemn requiem Mass was offered for the repose of his soul with the Rev. Joseph B. Scully as celebrant. The Rev. Francis X. FitzPatrick was deacon and the Rev. W. H. Kennedy, subdeacon. The choir of the church was assisted by Joseph L. Murphy and John Cullum. At the conclusion of the Mass, Mr. Murphy sang "Thy Will be Done." The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. Interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, the funeral cortege from the church to the cemetery being a long one. The Rev. Father FitzPatrick officiated at the grave. The bearers were Peter Todesky, Henry Ertel, Alfred Long, Andrew Juhl, Robert Schoonmaker and William Leehive.

The funeral of William J. McCaffrey formerly of this city and Sawkill, who was killed last Thursday in a collision of two fire trucks while on duty as traffic policeman in New York city, was held Monday morning, when high officials of the police and fire departments attended to pay their respects to the memory of a man who had served the city faithfully for 19 years. Among those at the funeral were Police Commissioner Whalen and Fire Commissionr John J. Dorman, deputy Police Commissioners Philip D. Hoyt and John A. Leach. There were 150 policemen and 200 firemen who formed an escort of honor. Services were held at the McCaffrey hame, 18 Van Wyck Boulevard, Jamaica, Queens, and at the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of the Cenacle, 135th street and Hillside avenue, Jamaica. The Rev. Joseph McCaffrey, chaplain, to the police department conducted them. Departmental bands and the Police Glee Club participated. Burial was at St. Joseph's cemetery, Yonkers.

WILL CALL EXTRAORDINARY TERM FOR WESTCHESTER CASE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 8 (AP).—Acting Governor Herbert H. Lehman announced today he had decided to call an extraordinary and trial term of Supreme Court, with Grand Jury, to consider the circumstances surrounding the White Plains land purchase for Westchester county.

Samuel Untermyer was named by Governor Roosevelt to make a special investigation of the purchase of land in White Plains for a new county courthouse by the Board of Supervisors of Westchester county, following charges of favoritism and irregularity.

In a report to the Governor made public yesterday, Mr. Untermyer recommended a complete investigation of the land purchase, but suggested that such action be delayed until after election.

Ehmke Opposes Root in First Game of Series

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 8.—With a cold breeze whipping through the park the Cubs and Athletics lined today in the first game of the 1929 World Series.

The home field of the National League champions was filled to its estimated capacity of 50,000 fans bundled in furs and overcoats, for the opening struggle between two of the most colorful clubs in baseball.

Root is the National League's leading flinger while Ehmke has been among the A's regular twirlers at any stage of the season, acting mostly in a relief role and pitching only about a half dozen complete games. He was chosen in preference to George Earnshaw and Lefty Grove, fast ball stars who had been figured as likely to get the call.

Mack crossed up the experts further by sending Rube Walberg, big southpaw, to the bull pen for warmup and possible call to the rescue. Both teams put their full strength on the field for the first battle, Miller starting in the outfield for the A's in spite of a heavy cold.

There was a big contrast in the rival pitching styles, as they warmed up. Ehmke tried both side arm and underhand stuff while Root confined himself to the more orthodox overhand delivery.

The vast crowd stood with bared heads as the national anthem was played, the field cleared for action. With a mighty roar the first game got under way.

The lineups for the first world series games follows:

Athletics	Cubs

Annual Meeting Of Accredited Herd Association

(Over Sixty Members in Attendance at Court House—Millard Davis Re-elected President—County Veterinarian's Report.

Monday night over sixty members of the Ulster County Accredited Herd Association met at the court house for their annual meeting. There was a large attendance and many of the members and officers stated that it was one of the best meetings the association has ever had. Everything went off fine. No complaints against the work of eradicating tuberculosis from the Ulster county herds were made. This certainly is a fine tribute to the work after over 1,900 different owners of cattle have had their cows inspected.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by President Millard Davis. After a few brief remarks he asked Albert Kundt, manager of the Farm Bureau, to read the minutes of the previous meeting, as C. C. Hardenbergh, the secretary of the association, was still confined to his home with illness. The minutes and financial report for the year were unanimously approved. The financial statement showed that only a very small balance was left on hand, with many outstanding accounts. An effort will be made to complete collections at the earliest possible date.

The county veterinarian's report was next on the program. Dr. Fleming's report was exceptionally good. It showed that nearly half as many tests were applied during the past year as were made during the six years since the work was inaugurated. The following is a complete summary of the work:

Report of County Veterinarian Dr. H. F. Fleming:

Year Ending September 30, 1929

The extensive campaign put on in the Township of Wawarsing during the first week in October, is not included in the above report. The number tested in Wawarsing will reduce the number of infected premises to 15 or 20.

The above report shows that the county is becoming well tested. As soon as it is all tested, it is believed many buyers will be attracted here to purchase stock. The report also shows that some testing has been done in every township in the county.

President Davis reported that the state had over $200,000 invested in Ulster county by paying indemnity for reactors taken out. It was also brought out that about 3,000 reactors have been taken out in the course of six years. Only a relatively small proportion of these have been replaced, without any decrease in milk received at shipping stations. This indicates that the cattle now on farms are healthier and returning more to the farmers.

Directors Elected.

The election of two directors was announced. Fred DuBois and Millard Davis were nominated to succeed themselves. No other nominations were made and they were duly and unanimously elected. At a directors meeting afterward, Millard Davis was elected president of the Association; Fred DuBois, vice-president and C. C. Hardenbergh, secretary-treasurer.

Everyone was disappointed that no representative of the Department of Albany could be present. Remarks by Millard Davis, Dr. Fleming, B. H. Decker, John H. Beatty and Albert Kundt made the meeting very interesting. After a discussion of various details of the work, the meeting was adjourned until the next annual meeting to be held the first Monday in October in 1930.

Negligence Action Taken up for Trial

Max Kaplan Seeks to Recover $2,500 From Robert E. Anderson of Yonkers—Disputed Action Brought By Frank E. Gallagher.

Making good his statement of the opening day of court Judge Hasbrouck this morning dismissed on motion of counsel the action on contract brought by Frank E. Gallagher against Joseph M. Hilbert. On Monday Judge Hasbrouck stated that cases announced as ready and placed on the day calendar would have to be ready when reached or some legal excuse presented for not being ready to go to trial or they would be dismissed or judgment taken. No. 22, Gallagher against Hilbert was placed on the calendar Monday and plaintiff's counsel stated that he would need a witness alleged to be in Boston before he could go to trial. The witness was not present at the opening of court today and on motion of Frank W. Brooks who appeared of counsel for Amos Van Etten, attorney for defendant, the case was dismissed.

An action in negligence brought by Max Kaplan of this city against Robert E. Anderson of Yonkers was taken up for trial by the court and a jury.

Mr. Kaplan seeks to recover $2,500 alleged damages to his Cadillac sedan which was damaged in a collision with a Chevrolet sedan of defendant on August 15, 1926. At the time Mr. Kaplan was traveling from Albany to Kingston and the Chevrolet car occupied by four people was traveling north. The car of Mr. Kaplan was purchased about two weeks prior to the accident at a cost of $4,430. It had been driven about 1,400 miles.

Plaintiff's Story

According to the story of plaintiff he saw the car of defendant approach. Both cars were being driven to the right of the road. When some distance apart Mr. Kaplan said he saw the Chevrolet car driven over the edge of the road and on the shoulder. The driver appeared to try to regain the roadway and the car skimmied and then came back on the roadway and crossed to the left of its pathway. Mr. Kaplan said he then drove his car off the road to the right and into the field along the road and stopped. While standing on the road a distance of at least seven feet the Chevrolet car apparently out

Clash of Counsel.

There was a clash of counsel [illegible] the morning when Mr. Hogan attempted to inject a statement into the case to the effect that Mr. Kaplan was bringing the action in Ulster county in order to secure a judgment here and prevent the defendant from bringing to trial actions now pending in Westchester county for injuries in the automobile accident. Kaplan would be free from prosecution while the defendant would have to be home guilty of negligence by the jury. The statement of counsel was objected to by Mr. Sugarman, who appeared for Kaplan and the court held that any cases in Supreme court in Westchester county had nothing to do with the present action in this county and that line of examination and comment was withdrawn.

The case was continued Sugarman, Michael and Weeks of Albany with F. W. Brooks of counsel in selecting a jury appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Hogan of Thomas J. O'Neil's office at White Plains with A. J. Cook of counsel during the selection of the jury appeared for the defendant.

A day calendar was made up to include Nos. 116, 190, 192, 193, 215, 226, 227, 161, 228 and 294.

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Our attention is invited to Clemson College, the South Carolina A & M. school, and a prediction of at least one eminent authority that the Tigers have a "pretty good chance to go through their football season undefeated." Continues a State Park (S. C.) correspondent:

"If you will recall, Clemson last year was undefeated, untied and not scored on until the November games. In the days when John Heisman was coach at Clemson his teams were southern champions, beating Georgia Tech annually. Clemson should finish that this fall. If you want to see a game that has as much 'color' as any of the year come to Columbia Thursday, October 24, for the annual meeting between Clemson and the University of South Carolina."

The polo season closed without definitely settling the line-up of America's "Big Four" for the 1930 international cup challenge matches with England. Again the main problem, as it was last year, revolves around selecting a reliable No. 1 man but other positions also are unsettled.

W. Averell Harriman, who won the No. 1 post from Stephen Sanford in 1928, has been a disappointment this year. Young E. T. Gerry, Jr., of Harvard and the Old Aiken junior champions, is a promising forward but he needs more seasoning. At times Harold E. Talbott, Jr., the Dayton veteran, played brilliantly at No. 1. Probably the best equipped player for this important post, however is Eric Pedley, the stalwart Californian who has a natural aptitude for it, though he finished the season playing No. 3.

Winston Guest played back on the "Big Four" last year but he is more brilliant at No. 2, where he has freer play for his daring horsemanship and hard hitting. Young Earl Hopping, who got into the 1928 line-up at No. 2 against the Argentines, has had an erratic year. Tommy Hitchcock has started every big international series since 1921 at the roving No. 2 position but he has has been concentrating on the semi-defensive No. 3 job. The probability is that the strongest American line-up would be Pedley, Hopping, Hitchcock and Guest but the rapid development of other players may upset this prospect.

Dear Sir: Jack Sellers' death comes as a distinct loss to the sports world. During the winter of 1919 Jack culminated his most successful track season by winning the national 600-yard indoor championship in the fast time of 1:05.3-5. It was during this period while representing the Boston A. A. that I matched strides with Jack in several 1,000 yard races. Looking back I recall that Jack coupled with his life-long friend, Sid Leslie and the veteran Mike Devaney, represent the greatest middle distance triumvirate ever produced in greater New York.

Death Thins Ranks Of Famous Cubs Who Played Yankmen 19 Years Ago

By WALTER T. BROWN
(AP Sports Service Writer)

Chicago, (AP)—Nineteen years have gallivanted across the sports pages since that rarest great baseball team, put together by Frank Chance, knocked off highly touted Philadelphia Athletics, champions for the world series title.

The Cub team with four National league pennants and two world series titles behind it was going down. Mack's Athletics were coming on to win three and tie one. The Athletics won from the Cubs in 1910, four games to two.

And what of the Cubs of that year?

Chance, manager and first baseman? Dead. Harry Steinfeldt, third baseman? "King" Cole, rookie pitcher then who won from the Athletics; Pat Moran, catcher, Tom Needham, another catcher—all dead.

"Tinker to Evers to Chance—what a combination," the old Cub fan will rhapsodize. Tinker, shortstop, now wants to get back as a base-ball manager. Evers is one of the Boston Braves' coaches.

"Three Fingered" Brown, pitching hero, is working for an oil company at Lawrenceville, Ill. Ed. Reulbach, another mound star, works for a glass firm in New York, and Orvie Overall, third of the pitching triumvirate, is a California rancher.

Johnny Kling, catcher, operates a billiard parlor in Kansas City. Ray Archer, catcher, is buying lives at the Chicago stockyards. Heinie Zimmerman—remember Heinie, and all around good player, still plays in New York where he is a stevedore's helper.

Frank Schulte—"Old Wildfire"—the fleet-footed outfielder, works for an oil company in California. Art Hofman, outfielder, is proprietor of a haberdashery and Jim Sheckard, the third of the gardeners, is in business in Columbus, Pa.

Chance's outfit gained attention when it won the league batting in 1906 and fell before Fielder Jones' hitless wonders—the Chicago White Sox. In 1907 and '08 the Cubs bowled over the Detroit Tigers for world series honors, the Tigers winning but one game in the two series.

After the 1910 world series the old Cubs gradually broke up. The Cubs won another pennant in 1918 but it was a hollow victory as the "big series" was on in Europe that fall.

Series Fans Camp Out During Night

Chicago, Oct. 8 (AP).—Weary-eyed, weary-legged baseball fans—some certain of success, others merely hopeful, stretched, as the ticket windows at Wrigley Field opened to sell 8,000 temporary bleacher seats, and 2,500 grandstand standing room admissions for the first game between the Cubs and Athletics for the world championship.

The line, or lines, started to form yesterday, increasing through the day and night until pedestrians interested in other affairs than championship baseball games were forced to walk up the middle of the streets and adjoining Wrigley Field to get to where they were going.

Some of the waiters arose from army cots—rented for the night for the price of a room and bath in almost any first-class hotel.

Seats in the bleachers constructed over two adjacent streets and the standing room admissions were to go on sale at 10:30, the former at $1 each and the latter at $3. The gates were to open at 9:30 to those who were fortunate enough to have obtained reserved seats in the grandstand and boxes.

The waiting line for the first game provided the usual opportunities for enterprising business minds. Boxes were sold for $1 each while the rental fee for cots was as high at $5 for the night. Vendors of food and coffee did business in a big way, and hoped for fair weather and another harvest tonight.

Optimists who came to Chicago believing that money could help them to obtain tickets were out of luck, for the scalpers had sold what few tickets they could locate.

The A's still were the money favorites, although little wagering was being done. Connie Mack's American League champions were quoted at 11 to 10.

New K. O. Threat

HARRY EBBETTS

New York, (AP).—Harry Ebeets, 23-year-old blond slugger, is rated hereabouts as a coming challenger for the middleweight title.

Harry has won more than 50 bouts by knockouts. He stopped his last two opponents in the first round.

Holding Seats For Regular Fans

Anticipating repeat orders for reserved seats, Captain E. C. Lawson, athletic officer of the First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, has ordered the list of last season's armory boxt patrons held intact until Wednesday evening so that no one will lose his choice if he calls to have it reserved before that time.

Of course it is impossible for the armory to hold out any longer than Wednesday and after that day all reserved seats not taken will be put on sale. There are a number of good ones, however, that will be disposed of before Wednesday, so those who intend to see the fights on Friday night, October 11, from the reserved seat section would do well to call the armory as soon as possible.

Friday's card will open the indoor season at the armory and Captain Lawson has arranged a card that promises plenty of action. The fight menu will be topped by an eight rounder between Nick Zinna and Harry Matinsky, the two boys who thrilled large assemblages of fight customers at the Fair Grounds during the past summer.

Supporting bouts are as follows:

Frenchy DeWig, Kingston, vs. Johnny Moffit of the 365th Infantry, New York city, 6 rounds.

"Pete Kid" Buckman, this city, vs. Johnny Pinto of New York, 6 rounds.

Charlie Molvin, Kingston, vs. Archie Klinbrough, New York, 6 rounds.

Ted Mayone, this city, vs. Freddie Shabot, also a local boy, 4 rounds.

Another four-round tilt will be arranged in the near future, making the card a 34-stanza affair, provided all the scraps go the limit.

There will be no smoking at the armory bouts this season, which promises better fights. It is hard for a scrapper to do his best in a smoke filled arena. The drawback generally has its biggest affect on the main bout which is the last tilt.

McKechnie with Boston Braves.

Chicago, Oct. 8 (AP).—William "Fighting Bill" McKechnie, transient manager of major league baseball, has quit the St. Louis Cardinals to accept a four-year managerial contract with the Boston Braves.

We wouldn't call the name of Salmon P. Chase a household word exactly. And certainly we wouldn't call his face on the new $10,000 bill a household face.

Perhaps the most puzzling thing about Tibet, called the Land of Mystery in a new book title, is how each new explorer who manages to get into the place is the first.

"What is woman's place?" asks a correspondent. As a result of extended observation, we are able to inform him that it is any place she happens to be in, while she's there.

Rookie Wins 20

WES FERRELL

Cleveland (AP).—Wes Ferrell is the prize pitching cate hof the 1929 season.

The 21-year-old Cleveland right-hander won his 20th game of the year on September 29. This is something that one rookie in several thousand manages to do.

CARRIER'S FAME MOST ENDURING

That Style of Offense Brings Red Grange to Front.

Nine out players have gained fame through ability to carry the ball off tackle and around end than any other form of attack. Once in a while a kicker, a pass receiver, a passer will be a team's great star, but the carrier's name is the most enduring. This style of offense brought Red Grange into the limelight.

The wide end sweeps and the cut back plays with excellent blocking by linesmen and leading backs made Grange famous. The same was true of Paddy Driscoll when he wore the purple colors of Northwestern. Oilphant, of Purdue, who afterward went to the Army, was given excellent support by his line, and thus made his reputation.

However, there must be a variation of attack. A pass, especially if used from the running formation, makes the ground gaining easier off tackle and around end. The line plunge, with a fake thrust off tackle, is the more effective if tackle plays have been gaining.

Quarterbacks seek to find the weak spot in opponents' defense. A game may be won by the use of five plays instead of the fifty or sixty which may compose the offensive repertoire.

As the modern game is played any back may be shifted to a ball carrying position. In this manner ball carriers may be rested. Ends may be brought back if they are adept at running.

Congress may be asked to intervene in the squabble between the Army and Navy departments over the resumption of athletic relations. Congressman Hamilton Fish, New York, called on President Hoover and suggested that the games be resumed. The famous one-time Harvard varsity grid player, talking after the interview, said:

"I suggested that the secretaries of war and navy, the superintendents of the two academies and the athletic directors should call a conference in an effort to remove the differences that caused a break in relations."

Miller Huggins, famed manager of the New York Yankees, who passed on the other day, was at one time the leader of the St. Louis Cardinals and as such had a long and serious debate with Bob Connery, St. Louis scout, over giving $500 for the purchase of a rookie. Connery finally won and Rogers Hornsby became the property of the St. Louis team.

Ohio State's passing for the coming season will be handled by McConnell and Holman, practice at Stadium field indicated. Arden McConnell, a third-year man, has come up from the ranks in the last two weeks of pre-season work and has what seems to be a regular halfback position.

Mickey Walker, middleweight boxing champion, will meet Ace Hudkins, of Nebraska, in a ten-round title bout at Los Angeles on October 29.

Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis heavyweight boxer, was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail and was fined $500 and costs upon his plea of guilty on nine charges growing out of a recent automobile accident.

One of the great races in which the late Sam Hildredth trained the winner, was the International, in which Zev defeated the English Derby winner, Papyrus. Hildredth showed a fine spirit in this race by entertaining Ben Jarvis, trainer of the English horse in his box.

Bobby Jones' recent exhibition at the San Francisco Golf club netted the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children close to $6,000. Jones says Doctor Willing of Portland, Ore., wants him to go fishing in Oregon next year and also that the Japanese government has invited him to play exhibition matches in Japan.

Trojans' Hard Task

Captained by Nate Barrager, the University of Southern California turns out its famous Trojans to face one of the most difficult football seasons in its history, during which its three biggest games are all played during a period of four weeks. The Trojans meet Stanford at Palo Alto, October 26; California at Los Angeles, November 2, and Notre Dame at Chicago, November 16.

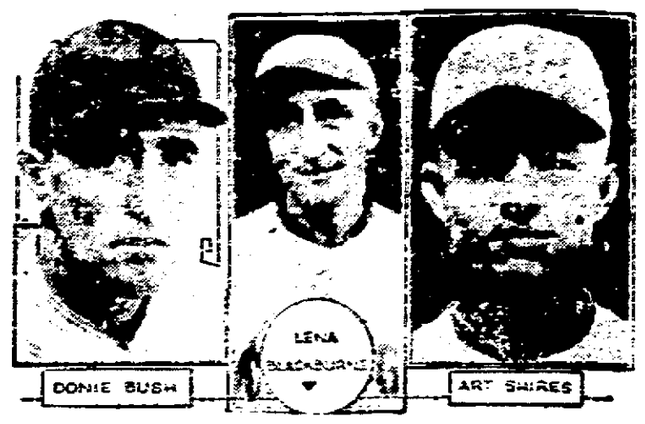
Donie May Tame "The Great Shires"



Chicago's White Sox, or, as Art Shires would put it, the club known as the one on which "The Great Shires" stars, has a new manager. The news of this move, however, centers around prospects of Donie Bush, Lena Blackburne's successor, making Shires behave.

Chicago, (AP).—Baseball fans predict Art Shires, better known as "The Great Shires" and as the game's freshest busher, will have to pick up a teammate as a sparring partner now that Donie Bush has signed to take Lena Blackburne's job.

Donie is not one of the hard-boiled managerial school but he certainly will tolerate no fisticuffs from Shires or anyone else.

Blackburne was a bit too game, it appears, when it came to tackling Shires. As manager he won several debates with Arthur but he dropped three decisions at fisticuffs and also lost prestige with the owners.

Talk around the major leagues is that Shires will be traded, so little Donie may not even be threatened by the unfortunate experiences that add to the grief of his unfortunate predecessor.

Babe May Mimic Jack And Be Pilot; Anyway, Sports To Keep Two Greats

These two self-made kings of sock still keep their public well entertained. Dempsey is still active as a boxing promoter. Ruth aspires to add managerial duties to his present task of hitting homers for the Yanks.

BY JAY VESSELS
Spors Editor
(Associated Press Feature Service)

New York (AP).—Sports figures like Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth may be down, or going down, when it comes to the old punch but you can't exactly say that they're out.

The Bambino may step into an executive position even before that Ruthian wallop is gone.

They are mentioning Babe among the foremost candidates for the managership of the New York Yankees.

This would put two of greatest athletes in history high up in the business end of the sports which they lifted to unprecedented heights.

By next summer Dempsey hopes to be deep in the business of promoting championship fights.

If Ruth lands the Yankee post he will be just as deep in the business of trying for another championship for Colonel Ruppert's ball club.

The only difference will be that Jack will be active only in the business end while Ruth still will be out there with that big club backing up his managerial acumen with some good sound slugging.

As for the public's view in the matter, there is no question that it strongly endorses Dempsey's new venture and the critics hereabouts state pointedly that Ruth is the people's choice for the Yankee job.

Bright Colors Used in Simple Daytime Clothes

Bright colors, such as sapphire blue, sealing-wax and flame red, copper-green and golden yellow, are used for simple daytime clothes in all of the Paris collections. These shades appear in mixed woolens and in plain broadcloths, velvets and rough-faced zibelines. However, the most frequently repeated color combination is black and white. Every house uses black broadcloth or velvet with ermine, and the fur is applied lavishly on coats—in large scarfs thrown about the neck like a sling, as Vionnet does them; in wide full-length scarfs, which Worth uses; or in very large draped shawl collars in most of the houses.

Marks Birthplace of Father of Locomotive

At Wylam, on the north bank of the River Tyne, under the auspices of the Institutions of Civil Engineers and Mechanical Engineers a tablet commemorating [illegible] of a man who achieved the seemingly impossible, George Stephenson, the father of the steam locomotive engine. Past the front of his cottage, within a few yards of the door, heavily laden and light trains of coal trucks pass today, as did the tiny cauldron wagons drawn by horses along plate ways 150 years ago. The cottage itself is a two-storied house typical of many of those built years ago by the colliery owners for their employees. It was divided into four rooms, in each of which a different family dwelt. The lower room at the western side of the cottage was the home of the Stephenson family, and it was in this room, which served for sleeping, eating and shelter, that George, the second son of a family of four boys and two girls, was born on June 9, 1781. "Old Bob," George Stephenson's father, was a Scotsman who crossed the border as a gentleman's servant, and then married a local lassie, Mabel Carr, the daughter of a dyer. "Bob" found work as fireman of the pumping engine of the Wylam colliery at 12 shillings ($3) per week.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Found He Had Financed Small "Deal" in Rabbit

Some Saturdays ago a small boy asked his father for a quarter to buy a rabbit. On being satisfied that a hut was being fixed up in which to keep the rabbit, and being also a believer in the civilizing influence on boys of keeping pets, dad gave him a quarter.

The following Saturday a second youngster came on the same errand, and obtained a quarter. It happened to be a large family, and not wishing to display any favoritism, dad eventually gave a quarter to each of his children for the purchase of a rabbit.

One day he went out to see all these rabbits and was surprised to find only one! He inquired of his children what they had all done with their quarters. Each declared that he or she had bought a rabbit. "Well, where are they then?" he demanded.

"Why, dad," explained one of his youngsters, "it was the same rabbit; we bought it from each other."—Exchange.

SCREEN GRID RADIO

Once more, Crosley engineering skill and Crosley straight-line mass production score! This time with a radio set not only sensational in price, but matchless in performance. For engineers have pronounced the new Crosley Screen Grid Unitrad the finest A. C. radio ever produced for the price.

See for yourself . . . note the circuit listed here: It utilizes THREE 224 Screen Grid R. F. tubes; one 227 power detector tube; one 227 heater-type first audio tube, resistance coupled; two 245 power output tubes in push pull; one 280 rectifier tube—eight in all.

Deep, natural tone is the result—razor-edge selectivity—instant response with volume plus on the slightest turn of the dial. Complete elimination of howls and squeaks, too, even at the highest amplification. No wonder the new Crosley Unitrad is the radio sensation of the year.

In Handsome Console Models, too!

While the new Crosley Screen Grid Unitrad may be used as a simple table model, for bookshelves or other out-of-the-way places, it is also available in an extensive line of Crosley consoles. Or it may be had in cabinets produced by seven of the leading cabinet manufacturers of the country—all in the widest possible range of prices.

Precedence Case Still Unsolved

Washington, Oct. 8 (AP)—The official and almost official society of Washington will have food for speculation for many days to come as a result of the White House dinner in honor of Prime Minister Mac Donald.

The big question, who should sit next to whom, which had been worrying the capital for months, appears to be as persistent as ever the day after that first state dinner of the Hoover administration.

The reason, viewed from the perspective of those who were outside, is that the rules of precedence having come into conflict with the rules of simple courtesy, President and Mrs. Hoover and the ranking guests adopted the latter as their guide.

To the right of Lady Isabella sat Secretary Stimson, and to his right, Miss Isabel Mac Donald, the prime minister's daughter. To the left of Sir Esme, the first lady on the president's left, was Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, sister and official hostess of Vice-President Curtis.

That arrangement was made possible by the wholesale waivers of rights of precedence. Sir Esme, as his king's personal representative at ceremonials dinners, outranked his prime minister. Furthermore, the vice-president, as the highest ranking official guest beside the president at any function in America, ordinarily would have to be seated at Mrs. Hoover's right.

Lady Isabella, along with her husband, waived her rank, and Vice-President Curtis, even before announcing the relinquishment of his own, had waived precedence for Mrs. Gann. Miss Mac Donald, although official hostess for her father at No. 10 Downing street, came to America without social rank.

So the hostesses and social secretaries who have been counting on a White House dinner to fix finally the rank of Mrs. Gann are still left to their speculations. That question has persisted in some circles long since the diplomatic corps decided to accord her the same recognition traditionally given only to the wife of a vice-president.

Another question, whether Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of the speaker of the house, outranks Mrs. Gann, or vice versa, has added perplexity to the situation in the minds of many most anxious to be correct in their arrangements for highly formal social affairs in the capital. The Longworths are absent from Washington.

Economic Law

The law of diminishing returns is an economic law, which states that in any given stage an increase of labor or capital applied beyond a certain point in the cultivation of land causes a less than proportionate increase in the produce raised from a given area. This law is generally attributed to Ricardo, but it was discovered considerably earlier.

ANCIENT LEGEND STARTS SEARCH FOR PIRATE GOLD

Expedition to Seek for Mystery Ship Said to Be Sunk Off the Coast of Oregon.

Portland, Ore.—The quest of pirate gold and the spirit of adventure has beckoned to the sands of the Pacific ocean near Manzanita, Ore., a group of men who will attempt to solve one of the west coast's mysteries.

Upon the side of Neahkahnie mountain and in the sands of the beach they will dig for a "mystery" ship and a treasure said by Indian legends to have been buried more than two hundred and fifty years ago by the vessel's crew.

Many interesting "bedtime stories" have been related about the Neahkahnie mountain mystery.

The most authentic of the legends state that the strange vessel was the Spanish ship San Jose, which left La Paz, Lower California, laden with mission supplies for San Diego, June 16, 1679, and which was never heard from.

The San Jose carried a cargo of beeswax, which might account for the beeswax found on the beach near the wreck during the last two centuries.

But the most fascinating of the legends is the one related to early Oregon pioneers by the Indians. They told the first white men who settled on the coast that three vessels met in battle off the shore line. Two of them were sunk. The third, a pirate vessel, manned by Orientals or Spaniards, was driven ashore and wrecked.

Before the ship was destroyed by the pounding waves the crew carried a chest to a point on Neahkahnie mountain and buried it. Before covering the treasure with earth the swarthy men murdered a negro member of their crew and placed his body on top of the chest, according to the legend.

Indian superstition regarding the dead prevented the braves from investigating the buried treasure and is perhaps one of the reasons it was unmolested during the succeeding years.

The quest for the treasure has been heightened by the mystery of strangely marked stones found on the mountainside, which apparently point to the spot where the treasure is buried.

For several years inhabitants of the beach have been able to see the ribs of the vessel. They were made of teakwood. But shifting sands during the last three years have covered the last remains of the "mystery" vessel.

E. M. Cherry, British vice consul at Astoria, Ore., has tentative plans under consideration for raising the vessel and also for making a search of the mountain in an attempt to find the treasure.

Webster Birthplace Is Historic Shrine

Concord, N. H.—Restored to a degree sufficient to insure its preservation, the boyhood home of Daniel Webster, in that part of the old town of Salisbury that now belongs to the city of Franklin, has been made a New Hampshire historic shrine.

For several years the Webster birthplace has been under the control of the state government, but Secretary of State Enoch D. Fuller and Deputy Secretary Earl S. Hewitt have undertaken to make the birthplace better known and more easily accessible to the traveling public. The road that diverges from the Daniel Webster highway a short distance south of Franklin has been repaired and the birthplace estate has been put in better order than at any time in years. A path has been cut through the underbrush to a grove on the shore of Punch Brook, where Ebenezer Webster, father of Daniel, once had a grist mill, and here has been set up a permanent table with benches for the use of picnic parties.

Inside the little two room house that once sheltered the Webster family a historical museum has been established and among the relics of olden times on exhibition are a number of household and farm utensils that once belonged to the Webster family.

Daniel Webster lived in the little house until he left home to prepare for Dartmouth college, at Phillips Exeter academy.

Kansas Town Wins Out With Biggest Elevator

Copeland, Kan.—Two Kansas towns have settled their rivalry, temporarily, for a claim to the world's largest co-operative grain elevator. Copeland, with its newly completed wheat storage plant, has won.

Copeland's co-operative equity exchange outdistanced a similar organization in the nearby town of Fowler by building a new elevator, providing added storage capacity for 175,000 bushels of wheat.

This skyscraper of the plains gets its business from 120 members who have more than 6,000 acres in wheat. This year they expect to ship 1,600 carloads of grain, 700 more than was handled last year.

Kansas Losing Sunflower

Sublette, Kan.—The Sunflower state may have to change its name to the sweet clover state, for Kansas sunflower is passing. The Kansas highway commission is confronted with the responsibility. The passing of the sunflower, it is said, is due to the vigilance of highway weed cutters at seasons when the state flower blooms profusely.

Agents Seize Carload of Beer

Through an error in routing a car of beer several thirsty people will suffer. A carload of beer which had been sent from New Jersey to Newburgh by mistake was seized by Federal agents from the Kingston office Saturday and on Monday the 240 half barrels of beer were destroyed by the agents. The beer was found in a box car of the Pennsylvania Railroad on a siding at Newburgh having arrived over the Erie railroad. At the time of the seizure the car was on the tracks of the West Shore.

It appears that the beer was sent by mistake to Newburgh where the agents received a tip that there was beer in the car. On its arrival at Newburgh the agents formed a reception committee and took charge of the cargo.

Monday armed with sledge hammers and other tools of warfare the agents dumped the beer and started to dump the barrels into the river. Then realizing that 240 half barrels might be a menace to navigation they rescued the barrels and carted them to the Newburgh city dump where they were burned.
